Charge Attendant With Slaying of Sylvania Woman

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Earl L. Rife said today he has filed first-degree murder charges against a service station attendant in the slaying of Karen Kern, 20-year-old niece of state labor and political leader Frank W. King.

Rife filed the charges in Municipal Court at Perrysburg against Mark David Hodges, 26, Rt. 1, Lafayette, Ohio, near Beaverdam.

The nude body of Miss Kern, a school secretary at Sylvania, a Toledo suburb, was found a week ago tonight in an irrigation ditch south of Perrysburg in Wood County.

Authorities said she had been shot seven times and stabbed three times.

Hodges is presently in jail at Napoleon in Henry County on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. That charge stemmed from the wounding of Denise Fortner, 17, of near Napoleon.

Miss Fortner was shot last Aug. 4 as she rode a motorcycle near Napoleon. She said a car forced her off the road and the driver returned and shot her. She has recovered. Hodges was arrested in that case last Wednesday night.

Authorities said Hodges was one of the last persons known to have seen Miss Kern alive. She had stopped at a service station he operates near Beaverdam a week ago Sunday night because her car was overheating.

Miss Kern was returning home from a weekend visit with friends in Charleston, Ill., when she disappeared.

Sheriff Rife said the decision to charge Hodges with Miss Kern's murder came following intensive investigation by the Wood County sheriff's department and the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification, which supplied the "Scientific evidence."

Miss Kern's car was found four miles from where her body was spotted by a schoolboy who had thought it was a department store mannequin. Her clothes were in a nearby ditch.

New Yemen Government Seeks Peace

SANA, Yemen (AP)—Yemen's new Republican regime indicates that it will seek reconciliation with the Royalists and an end to the 5-year-old civil war, after its ouster of the president who seemed determined to keep fighting.

The new regime came to power Sunday in a bloodless coup when President Abdullah al-Sallal was out of the country. It said its goal is to "correct the situation" in Yemen.

Cairo's Middle East News Agency quoted the new acting president, Abdel Rahman Iriani, as saying contacts were under way with pro-Royalist tribes with the aim of bringing them into the Republican fold.

Iriani is a conservative and is believed to have great influence with the warring tribes.

The new premier, Moshen el Ainy, said all tribes have expressed backing for the new regime. He also said Yemen would follow a "good neighbor" policy with all sister states, including the neighboring monarchy of Saudi Arabia, which backed the Royalists in the civil war that began when Sallal led the overthrow of Yemen's 11-century-old monarchy in 1962.

U.S. Orbits New Satellite; 3 More Launches on Tap

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A multi-purpose "pinball" satellite soared around the globe today as a successful herald to one of America's busiest space weeks.

The new ATS 3, for applications technology satellite, rocketed into orbit from Cape Kennedy Sunday night to test systems that might eventually provide man with greater benefits from space.

Included are new experiments in communications, weather prediction and navigation.

ATS 3 is one of four U.S. space shots scheduled this week. Also on tap are:

—Surveyor 6, set to blast off from the Cape at 2:22 a.m. (EST) Tuesday on a planned 65-hour flight to the moon. The spacecraft is intended to land in a potential astronaut landing site near the center of the "graphs and analyze the lunar soil.

—ESSA 6, another in a series of operational weather study satellites, to be launched Wednesday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

—A mammoth Saturn 5 rocket, like that which will one day propel astronauts to the moon, to undergo its first test launch Thursday from the Cape. The rocket, largest, most powerful ever built, is to boost an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space.

ATS 3 settled Sunday night into an initial transfer orbit ranging from 155 to about 23,000 miles above the earth. Among equipment for the satellite's 18 experiments are three heavy, baseball-size steel balls which give it the "pinball" nickname.

At a future date, the three balls are to be ejected from the payload in a navigation test. Sensors aboard the satellite are to determine if the balls instead of stars can be used as navigation aids for far-out manned and unmanned space vehicles.

Hussein Lifts Peace Hopes For Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan made the strongest Arab bid for peace with Israel so far Sunday, telling an American television audience Arab leaders are willing to recognize Israel's right to exist and possibly to let Israeli ships through the Suez Canal if Israel meets "the right conditions."

Replying to questions on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Hussein said a prerequisite to direct peace talks is the withdrawal of Israeli troops from all Arab soil it occupied in the June war. Israel has said it will never let go of Old Jerusalem, which Jordan seized in the 1948 Palestine war, and Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol indicated a week ago that Israel intends to keep other Arab areas it captured in June.

Artillery and tank fire punctuated the pre-dawn stillness on the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line Sunday, marking the third border clash in three weeks between the two countries. An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanian guns opened up to cover Arab saboteurs who blew up a building at a farm settlement and were trying to cross the Jordan River to safety.

Washington C.H. Driver Dead

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—A 77-year-old Washington Court House man was found dead in his auto this morning after his car veered off Ohio 41 and hit a tree two miles south of here.

Sheriff's deputies said they were uncertain if George Selig died as a result of the accident or if he suffered a heart attack.

Nixon Pins Hope On Primary Wins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon has told some Republican leaders he thinks he'll have to win all of the first four presidential primaries next year to keep alive his chance for the GOP presidential nomination.

In discussions with Republican governors whose support he has been seeking, the former vice president has made it clear he thinks only a surge in the primaries will make him a top contender in a convention he has predicted will be wide open.

The first four primaries include New Hampshire on March 12, Wisconsin on April 2, Indiana on May 7 and Nebraska on May 14. Two later primaries fall on May 28 in Oregon and June 4 in South Dakota.

In the first four of these contests, Nixon is regarded as holding an early lead over Michigan Gov. George Romney and others whose names may be on the ballot. Romney is a certain entry in New Hampshire if he tosses his hat into the ring at a scheduled Nov. 13 Michigan meeting.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who wants his state's favorite son designation, has said he will act to keep his name off the New Hampshire ballot. But a write-in campaign is being organized for him that could take votes away from Nixon.

Nixon carried Oregon, along with New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Indiana, Nebraska and South Dakota in his losing 1960 race for the presidency with John F. Kennedy. But eight years have made some changes that are difficult for the political strategists to compute.

Any primary sweep by Nixon would be calculated to erase the "can't win" label pinned on him after his 1962 defeat for governor in California. It also might influence party moderates to

House Group Urges Deep Aid Slashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record 31 per cent cut in new funds for the foreign aid program was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Instead of the $3.23 billion requested by President Johnson, the committee sent to the House floor for debate next week a bill appropriating $2.20 billion. Committee aides said the $1.03 billion cut was the deepest since the aid program was started.

The committee tied to the bill a controversial provision designed to restrict the purchases of modern weapons by underdeveloped nations receiving aid money.

The bill's total included $1.831 billion of the $2.630 billion requested for economic aid and $365 million of the $596 million requested for direct military assistance. The total was $740 million less than appropriated last year.

During the year ending next June 30, the committee said, it is expected that 100 countries and 5 territories will receive some form of U.S. assistance.

The provisions recommended by the committee to curb purchases of sophisticated weapons such as jet aircraft and missile systems by underdeveloped countries would withhold economic aid from such nations in the amount they spend for such purchases. It would bar use of any military aid funds for similar purchases.

Exempted from the restrictions would be Greece, Turkey, Iran, Israel, the Republic of China, the Philippines and Korea.

Deny Hearing On Viet Refusal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Army privates who were court-martialed after they refused to be shipped to Vietnam were denied a hearing today by the Supreme Court. However, two of the justices suggested that the case presents "questions of great magnitude."

Justices Potter Stewart and William O. Douglas said that among the questions which the case presented—and which they said the court should have heard—were whether present United States military activity is in fact a war within the meaning of the Constitution and, if so, whether the President may constitutionally order the three to participate in that military activity when no war has been declared by the Congress.

The court voted 6-2 not to hear the case, with Justice Thurgood Marshall taking no part.

Doctors at the hospital said the pneumonia developed after the leg injury and said the youth did have the flu before the game.

Ashtabula Hit By 27 Inches Of White Stuff

5 State Area Covered by First Major Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly two feet of snow fell in sections of Northeast Ohio Sunday and early today, causing the closing of schools and slowing traffic on major routes.

Some 250 boy scouts and their leaders were stranded in a camp near the Ashtabula-Geauga County line, but camp director Earl Hensel said there was no problem—the boys were warm and had plenty to eat.

Ashtabula County was the hardest hit, with 27 inches of snow on the ground in some areas early today. Only flurries were forecast for today.

Little snow was reported on the ground 20 miles and more south of Lake Erie.

A snow emergency was declared in Ashtabula, a city of more than 25,000 persons, by City Manager David P. DeLuca. He also issued a plea to local motorists to use city streets as little as possible.

Ashtabula also routed extra heavy construction equipment to help clear snow off the streets.

The snowstorm, which also struck New York and Pennsylvania, was Ohio's first of the year.

Area Feels Wintry Blast

Circleville and Pickaway County areas received its first "wintry weekend" of the season with low temperatures in the 20s accompanied by snow flurries and a bone-chilling northerly wind.

The season's preview (winter doesn't officially arrive until Dec. 21) greeted Pickaway Countians Saturday morning with snow flurries and gusty winds.

The unseasonable cold front held daytime temperatures to the 30s both Saturday and Sunday. Early morning lows ranging from 20 to 24 degrees were recorded locally both Sunday and Monday mornings.

There was no accumulation of snow, but from time to time the ground was frosted by the wind-driven flurries.

NO PROBLEMS of any consequence were recorded locally attributed to the weather—it was a mere reminder of what's in store.

The 24-hour forecast issued today calls for little change in temperature with extremes of 22-35. Intermittent snow flurries can also be expected, the weatherman noted.

Girl's Blouse Found in Lake

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Divers have recovered the last item of clothing, a blouse, missing from the body of Sarah Ann Cleveland, 19, when it was found floating in Blue Limestone Park Lake Oct. 27.

The girl had been missing nine days at the time the body was found and authorities are continuing to investigate the cause of death.

Police said the blouse was torn in several places when divers of the Union County Rescue Squad located it near the site where Miss Cleveland's sweater was found in the water last Thursday. Police had no comment on how the blouse became ripped.

The clothing was found about 50 feet from where the girl's automobile was located in the water.

The body was clad in slacks and a brassiere when found.

Election Day Hours Away

Few Races Hold Much Controversy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Election day is but hours away, with Ohio voters prepared to head for the polls in anticipated record numbers Tuesday.

From the big mayor's race in Cleveland to hundreds of lack-luster contests in practically every county, voters will cast their ballots.

In Cleveland, Negro State Rep. Carl Stokes is slightly favored to become the first person of his race to be elected mayor of a metropolitan city in the United States.

Stokes, a Democrat, faces Seth C. Taft, a GOP attorney and nephew of the late "Mr. Republican," Sen. Robert A. Taft.

There also are mayor's races in Columbus, Toledo and other cities.

There is only one statewide issue. It is a legislative apportionment proposal which, if approved, would keep the present 99-member House and 33-member Senate intact until after the 1970 federal census.

Approximately 15,000 offices are to be filled around the state. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has predicted a record vote of 2,850,000 for the off-year election, topping the 1965 total of 2,795,892.

A federal court may decide today whether voters in Gary, Ind., even will go to the polls as scheduled. If the steel town does vote, state police and National Guardsmen are ready to move in because of apprehensions of racial disorder.

Richard G. Hatcher, Negro Democratic nominee, charged in a suit filed last Tuesday that 5,000 names of Negroes had been removed from the voting rolls and 4,000 phony names of

Weekend Disasters Claim over 250 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disaster struck often and hard over the weekend and more than 250 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain. In the Philippines: About 200 were believed dead or missing as casualty counts poured into Manila after typhoon Emma rampaged across the island and sank an inter island passenger ship.

In England: 51 were dead and 111 injured when an express train careened off the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Conqair 880 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in highway crashes during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

The Red Cross said at least 26,000 families or close to 140,000 persons were left homeless by the typhoon in 21 central and northern provinces.

Damage estimates ran upwards of $5 million.

In southeast London this morning firemen cut through a tangle of wrecked passenger cars with acetylene torches, freeing trapped passengers and recovering bodies from the derailment Sunday night of the crack express train from Hastings, on the south coast.

The Iberia jetliner crashed near Haslemere, England, as it was making its final approach to London. It tore into a 100-foot oak tree, gouged windows out of a farmhouse and came to rest in buckled fragments halfway up a 900-foot hillside.

Among those killed were two Americans, W.N. Perkins of Tyler, Tex., and a Mr. Mendel whose trip originated in Decatur, Ill. Also dead in the crash was British actress June Thorburn, 36. She was expecting a baby in four months.

The Cathay Pacific plane that went into Hong Kong harbor had 12 Americans aboard, including Howard Norton, a Church of Christ missionary enroute to Vietnam with his wife. The Nortons are from Oklahoma City.

Many passengers simply donned life vests and stepped into rescue boats. The one fatality was Mrs. Tran Thi Tam, wife of a South Vietnamese officer stationed at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

A Beechcraft Baron carrying a pilot and six passengers crashed at Port Moresby, New Guinea. All the passengers were believed to be Europeans but no names were immediately available.

Football Player Dies in Hospital

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old football player at the College of Wooster died today at Wooster Community Hospital from pneumonia, doctors said.

Richard T. Mueller of Englewood, Ohio, was taken to the hospital from Columbus after he broke his leg in the second quarter of Saturday's game against Capital.

Doctors at the hospital said the pneumonia developed after the leg injury and said the youth did have the flu before the game.

Ashtabula Hit By 27 Inches Of White Stuff

5 State Area Covered by First Major Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly two feet of snow fell in sections of Northeast Ohio Sunday and early today, causing the closing of schools and slowing traffic on major routes.

Some 250 boy scouts and their leaders were stranded in a camp near the Ashtabula-Geauga County line, but camp director Earl Hensel said there was no problem — the boys were warm and had plenty to eat.

Ashtabula County was the hardest hit, with 27 inches of snow on the ground in some areas early today. Only flurries were forecast for today.

Little snow was reported on the ground 20 miles and more south of Lake Erie.

A snow emergency was declared in Ashtabula, a city of more than 25,000 persons, by City Manager David P. DeLuca. He also issued a plea to local motorists to use city streets as little as possible.

Ashtabula also rented extra heavy construction equipment to help clear snow off the streets.

The snowstorm, which also struck New York and Pennsylvania, was Ohio's first of the year.

Area Feels Wintry Blast

Circleville and Pickaway County areas received its first "wintry weekend" of the season with low temperatures in the 20s accompanied by snow flurries and a bone-chilling northerly wind.

The season's preview (winter doesn't officially arrive until Dec. 21) greeted Pickaway Countians Saturday morning with snow flurries and gusty winds.

The unseasonable cold front held daytime temperatures to the 30s both Saturday and Sunday. Early morning lows ranging from 20 to 24 degrees were recorded locally both Sunday and Monday mornings.

There was no accumulation of snow, but from time to time the ground was frosted by the wind-driven flurries.

NO PROBLEMS of any consequence were recorded locally attributed to the weather — it was a mere reminder of what's in store.

The 24-hour forecast issued today calls for little change in temperature with extremes of 22.35. Intermittent snow flurries can also be expected, the weatherman noted.

Girl's Blouse Found in Lake

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Divers have recovered the last item of clothing, a blouse, missing from the body of Sarah Ann Cleland, 19, when it was found floating in Blue Limestone Park Lake Oct. 27.

The girl had been missing nine days at the time the body was found and authorities are continuing to investigate the cause of death.

Police said the blouse was torn in several places when divers of the Union County Rescue Squad located it near the site where Miss Cleland's sweater was found in the water last Thursday. Police had no comment on how the blouse became ripped.

The clothing was found about 50 feet from where the girl's automobile was located in the water.

The body was clad in slacks and a brassiere when found.

Commission Okays Purchase Of New Truck

Pickaway County Commissioners today authorized the purchase of a 1963 dump truck for the County Engineering Department.

The solons noted it may be the last vehicle purchased by the county without bids.

Kenny Hannan Ford submitted a bid of $7,768.00 for a new truck. Trade-in allowance for a 1963 model truck is $2,568.00, leaving a difference of $5,200.

Money for the purchase of the new truck came from the auto license and gasoline fund. A new state bidding law becomes effective Dec. 9 which will require that specifications for all vehicles be posted and competitive bidding accepted.

IN other business conducted today, commissioners established the dog license fees for 1968. Dog tags will remain at $2 and kennel licenses at $10.

The routine transfer of funds within the budgets of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and the photostat department were authorized. The sheriff requested a transfer of $500 and the photostat operator a transfer of $300.

Dr. Robert Phillips was reappointed to the Berger Hospital Board of governors for a four year term.

Commissioners Charles Morris, Lloyd Melvin and Wayne Hines were present for today's session.

Car Smashes Utility Pole

A car driven by Isaac L. Dunkle, 41, Williamsport, smashed into a utility pole on Route 316 near Darbyville 1:45 a. m. Sunday.

The driver of the vehicle sustained a fractured right ankle and chest injuries. Mrs. Dunkle's hip was fractured.

They were taken to London Memorial Hospital. Dunkle told investigating officers from the Pickaway County Sheriff's staff that he fell asleep at the wheel of the car.

LBJ Popularity At Even Level

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The downward trend in President Johnson's popularity has halted since late August, according to the Gallup Poll.

Gallup's organization, the American Institute of Public Opinion, said for a period of more than two months, the President's popularity rating has remained virtually unchanged.

As of now, 38 per cent of those questioned say they approve of the way the President is handling his job, with 50 per cent of those questioned expressing disapproval and 12 per cent with no opinion.

The institute said in late August that 40 per cent of those questioned expressed approval of the President's actions and in September 38 per cent.

Ohio Counts 19 Weekend Road Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio counted 19 traffic deaths over the weekend as motorists faced their first real test of winter driving.

Only two of the deaths, however, were blamed on the weather. Two Michigan residents were killed Sunday in a two-car collision on icy Interstate 75 near Sidney.

The count was from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Killed since noon Saturday: Edward E. Eckles, 54, Delaware, was killed Saturday night when a car in which he was riding in and another collided on Ohio 95 near Marion.

Becky Sue Vollmer, 18, and Bradley Current, 11, both of Tontogany in Wood County, died Saturday night in a two-car collision on Ohio 69 near Bowling Green.

James Chamberlin, 55, Cleveland, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car in his home city.

Kevin Kelleher, 30, Akron, was injured fatally Sunday in a two-vehicle accident in his home city.

Elizabeth V. Sutherland, 77, West Ferndale, Mich., and Bert L. Berry, 83, Lansing Mich., when cars in which they were riding collided Sunday on icy Interstate 75 near Sidney.

George E. Mulihan 73, Dundas, Vinton County, was killed Sunday when the car he was a passenger in crashed on Ohio 82 five miles south of McArthur.

Myron Scott Harvey, 20, a sailor from Jackson, Miss., was killed Sunday night in a two-car wreck on the Ohio Turnpike in Sandusky County. The Ohio Highway Patrol said Harvey was a passenger in a car driven by another sailor en route to Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois, where Harvey was stationed.

Report Pope Doing Well

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI discussed church business today for the first time since his operation Saturday and was visited by his two brothers.

The Pope conferred for 45 minutes with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state. He also was visited by his brothers, Sen. Ludovico Montini and Dr. Francesco Montini, a heart specialist.

The Pope's progress since his operation aroused belief that he may be able to resume some of his usual activities sooner than expected.

There is talk in Vatican circles that the 70 year old pontiff, whose prostate gland was removed Saturday, might be allowed to appear at his window briefly next Sunday or the one after to bless the noonday crowd in St. Peter's Square.

'Correct' Doll Brings Protests

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A group of Cincinnati area housewives is trying to arouse public opinion against the sale of a baby-sized French doll described as "anatomically correct."

"We think that this is carrying 'educational' playthings too far," said Mrs. Steven Wetzel of suburban Norwood, one of the organizers of the protest that now includes about a dozen local women.

Mrs. Wetzel said the doll, called "Little Brother," weighs about four pounds and is advertised as a toy for children 2 1/2 to 7 years old. Creative Playthings of New York has the U.S. franchise for the doll.

Election Day

whites inserted. He blamed the county Democratic organization whose candidate lost to him in the party primary.

From Boston in the East to San Francisco in the West a host of cities and towns will be picking mayors. But there also are many cities, including New York and Chicago, where there are no mayoral elections Tuesday. Gary is normally a Democratic stronghold, but the political contest there appears to have largely polarized into a Negro-white issue. The Republican candidate is Joseph B. Radian, a furniture store operator and city councilman. Hatcher is a lawyer.

Boston — The question is whether Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, a 47-year-old grandmother, can make it all the way to the top. She led a field of 10 in a preliminary election, getting strong support in working and middle-class areas where there was applause for her stand as a school committee member against busing Negro children to white schools outside their home neighborhoods.

Her opponent is Kevin H. White, 38, now secretary of state. The election is nonpartisan. Both candidates are Democrats.

Philadelphia—District Attorney Arlen Specter, a onetime Democrat who switched parties, is the Republican nominee against Mayor James H. Tate, leader of one faction of a split Democratic party. Victory for Specter would be a major Republican coup in the year before the presidential election.

In addition to the mayoralty contests, there are elections for governor in Kentucky and Mississippi.

Republicans think they have a good chance in usually Democratic Kentucky, and the campaign has grown heated as the election approached.

GOP nominee Louie B. Nunn has contended that Democratic nominee Henry Ward didn't do a good job as state highway commissioner and that road costs were higher than in some other states. Disputing this, Ward blasted Nunn for campaigning with "false charges."

A direct test of sentiment on the war is on San Francisco's ballot. This is a referendum on the question of whether U.S. troops should be withdrawn from Vietnam. The outcome, of course, will have no direct effect on U.S. policy.

In Mississippi, Rep. John Bell Williams, a Democrat, is expected to breeze to victory over Rubel Phillips, a Jackson attorney, in the gubernatorial election. Williams is a conservative at odds with national Democratic party policies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—George F. Kennan, the man who virtually invented America's cold war policy of containment of international communism, says neither the Soviet Union nor Red China can afford to let the United States win a military victory in Vietnam.

Those nations, he says, cannot "afford to let us end this with some sort of complete military victory on our terms." Such a victory, he suggested, might well force the communists to retaliate against the United States.

In a "more normal atmosphere," without the international tensions caused by the Vietnam war, Kennan said, the cold war in Europe might thaw, the numbers of Soviet and American troops in Europe might be reduced and the pace of the atomic arms race might lessen.

He said the Soviet Union has mellowed and become less expansionist since Stalin's death.

Kennan, a historian and former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, was interviewed on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen House Republicans contend a planned U.S. antimissile defense system may fracture the North Atlantic military alliance.

Commission Okays Purchase Of New Truck

Pickaway County Commissioners today authorized the purchase of a 1968 dump truck for the County Engineering Department.

The solons noted it may be the last vehicle purchased by the county without bids.

Kenny Hannan Ford submitted a bid of $7,768.00 for a new truck. Trade-in allowance for a 1963 model truck is $2,568.00, leaving a difference of $5,200.

Money for the purchase of the new truck came from the auto license and gasoline fund. A new state bidding law becomes effective Dec. 9 which will require that specifications for all vehicles be posted and competitive bidding accepted.

IN other business conducted today, commissioners established the dog license fees for 1968. Dog tags will remain at $2 and kennel licenses at $10.

The routine transfer of funds within the budgets of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and the photostat department were authorized. The sheriff requested a transfer of $500 and the photostat operator a transfer of $300.

Dr. Robert Phillips was reappointed to the Berger Hospital Board of governors for a four year term.

Commissioners Charles Morris, Lloyd Melvin and Wayne Hines were present for today's session.

Car Smashes Utility Pole

A car driven by Isaac L. Dunkle, 41, Williamsport, smashed into a utility pole on Route 316 near Darbyville 1:45 a. m. Sunday.

Dunkle and his wife, Evelyn, were both injured. The crash caused a two-hour electrical outage in the Darbyville-Commercial Point-Five Points area.

The driver of the vehicle sustained a fractured right ankle and chest injuries. Mrs. Dunkle's hip was fractured.

They were taken to London Memorial Hospital. Dunkle told investigating officers from the Pickaway County Sheriff's staff that he fell asleep at the wheel of the car.

Deputies James Lockard and Richard Clark were in charge of the investigation.

LBJ Popularity At Even Level

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The downward trend in President Johnson's popularity has halted since late August, according to the Gallup Poll.

Gallup's organization, the American Institute of Public Opinion, said for a period of more than two months, the President's popularity rating has remained virtually unchanged.

As of now, 38 per cent of those questioned say they approve of the way the President is handling his job, with 50 per cent of those questioned expressing disapproval and 12 per cent with no opinion.

The institute said in late August that 40 per cent of those questioned expressed approval of the President's actions and in September 38 per cent.

Kosygin Boasts Of Soviet Strength

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin boasted today of Soviet military might on the eve of a Red Square parade that is expected to display a huge new intercontinental missile.

Kosygin said Soviet armed forces "are always ready to give a decisive rebuff to any aggressor who dares raise a sword against our motherland or the Socialist camp."

The new missile, dragged under canvas through Moscow late one night last week in a parade rehearsal, is about the size of a missile shown here for the last two years.

Report Pope Doing Well

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI discussed church business today for the first time since his operation Saturday and was visited by his two brothers.

The Pope conferred for 45 minutes with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state. He also was visited by his brothers, Sen. Ludovico Montini and Dr. Francesco Montini, a heart specialist.

The Pope's progress since his operation aroused belief that he may be able to resume some of his usual activities sooner than expected.

There is talk in Vatican circles that the 70 year old pontiff, whose prostate gland was removed Saturday, might be allowed to appear at his window briefly next Sunday or the one after to bless the noonday crowd in St. Peter's Square.

'Correct' Doll Brings Protests

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A group of Cincinnati area housewives is trying to arouse public opinion against the sale of a baby-sized French doll described as "anatomically correct."

"We think that this is carrying 'educational' playthings too far," said Mrs. Steven Wetzel of suburban Norwood, one of the organizers of the protest that now includes about a dozen local women.

Mrs. Wetzel said the doll, called "Little Brother," weighs about four pounds and is advertised as a toy for children 2 1/2 to 7 years old. Creative Playthings of New York has the U.S. franchise for the doll.

whites inserted. He blamed the county Democratic organization whose candidate lost to him in the party primary.

From Boston in the East to San Francisco in the West a host of cities and towns will be picking mayors. But there also are many cities, including New York and Chicago, where there are no mayoral elections Tuesday.

Gary is normally a Democratic stronghold, but the political contest there appears to have largely polarized into a Negro-white issue. The Republican candidate is Joseph B. Radigan, a furniture store operator and city councilman. Hatcher is a lawyer.

Boston — The question is whether Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, a 47-year-old grandmother, can make it all the way to the top. She led a field of 10 in a preliminary election, getting strong support in working and middle-class areas where there was applause for her stand as a school committee member against busing Negro children to white schools outside their home neighborhoods.

Her opponent is Kevin H. White, 38, now secretary of state. The election is nonpartisan. Both candidates are Democrats.

Philadelphia—District Attorney Arlen Specter, a onetime Democrat who switched parties, is the Republican nominee against Mayor James H. Tate, leader of one faction of a split Democratic party. Victory for Specter would be a major Republican coup in the year before the presidential election.

In addition to the mayoralty contests, there are elections for governor in Kentucky and Mississippi.

Republicans think they have a good chance in usually Democratic Kentucky, and the campaign has grown heated as the election approached.

GOP nominee Louie B. Nunn has contended that Democratic nominee Henry Ward didn't do a good job as state highway commissioner and that road costs were higher than in some other states. Disputing this, Ward blasted Nunn for campaigning with "false charges."

A direct test of sentiment on the war is on San Francisco's ballot. This is a referendum on the question of whether U.S. troops should be withdrawn from Vietnam. The outcome, of course, will have no direct effect on U.S. policy.

In Mississippi, Rep. John Bell Williams, a Democrat, is expected to breeze to victory over Rubel Phillips, a Jackson attorney, in the gubernatorial election. Williams is a conservative at odds with national Democratic party policies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—George F. Kennan, the man who virtually invented America's cold war policy of containment of international communism, says neither the Soviet Union nor Red China can afford to let the United States win a military victory in Vietnam.

Those nations, he says, cannot "afford to let us end this with some sort of complete military victory on our terms." Such a victory, he suggested, might well force the communists to retaliate against the United States.

In a "more normal atmosphere," without the international tensions caused by the Vietnam war, Kennan said, the cold war in Europe might thaw, the numbers of Soviet and American troops in Europe might be reduced and the pace of the atomic arms race might lessen.

He said the Soviet Union has mellowed and become less expansionist since Stalin's death.

Kennan, a historian and former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, was interviewed on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen House Republicans contend a planned U.S. antimissile defense system may fracture the North Atlantic military alliance, reached court.

iff's office said most of the snow was north of Jefferson.

"It's snowing very hard and we're not advising anyone to go out unless he absolutely has to," said a highway patrol dispatcher.

Only one lane of traffic was open Sunday night in each direction on U. S. 20 and Interstate 90 east of Painesville, Lake County, to Pennsylvania.

Snow started falling about 3 a.m. Sunday morning and then tapered off that afternoon. It started again in Lake County Sunday evening.

Two feet of snow was reported on the ground at Hurley in northern Wisconsin and at Ironwood, Michigan.

Snowfalls elsewhere were lighter. Snow depths along the eastern shore of Lake Michigan ranged from 1 to 5 inches.

Temperatures dipped into the teens and mid 20s along the snow belt.

Elsewhere, unseasonably cold weather and clear skies covered most of the nation east of the Rockies. Temperatures in most northern areas were generally in the teens and 20s. Southern portions of Florida and Texas and parts of the far west had mild readings during the night and early today.

The slaying occurred Oct. 9, at an East Corwin St. residence. Hill gave himself up about seven hours after the incident. The weapon used, believed to be a 38 calibre revolver, has never been found.

has a reasoned, searching reaction to mounting criticism and "keeps his head high, his feet on the ground and goes on working the best he can."

"He doesn't want to be rigidly bound into one set of thinking," the First Lady said. "He's always trying to learn and explore."

Approaching the anniversary of four years in the White House, Mrs. Johnson said she has never lived so intensely.

"Awareness of this house is like a shot of adrenalin — intensifying the desire to do the best you can to live up to what this country wants its first family to be."

The President's hair is whiter, he has more lines in his face: "It has taken a lot—it's been worth everything it takes," his wife said.

The family has "drawn closer together than we ever have been in our lives—there's just four of us in the same boat."

Asked whether she wants President Johnson to run again, Mrs. Johnson said: "I want him to do everything of useful work that he can for his country."

Mrs. Johnson is urging the President to relax at golf, and says she hopes someday he'll retire to Texas and teach young people about "the years of government that he has lived."

In the historic second-floor White House treaty room, Mrs.

Johnson thoughtfully discussed the White House and her family. She recalled "a lot of things I've loved," like dining by candlelight on the Truman balcony with the President and their oldest daughter Lynda; running the family's dogs and wheeling her grandson's carriage on the south lawn; "spine-tingling moments" like seeing youngest daughter Luci's wedding gown stretched out across President Abraham Lincoln's massive bed; and "earnestly dramatic things" like the signing of the civil rights bill "with the life-times of hope and striving that went into it."

Here are Mrs. Johnson's responses to other questions:

Q. How do you feel about the forthcoming White House wedding (of Lynda to Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb)?

A. A heightened sense of excitement...and mostly a warm, happy expectancy that it will be just one of those great days to remember. Luci's was and it will always be one of the benchmarks, the great days in our life together...I hope this wedding will take its place as a dignified and well-loved occasion in this house.

Q. How do you feel about your future son-in-law going to Vietnam?

A. Like any mother or mother-in-law, I feel concerned and I'll be praying. But I'll always be very proud. I like that young man and I'm glad there are folks like him fighting for us.

Q. What did you think about the recent antiwar march on the Pentagon?

A. (Mrs. Johnson revealed she and the President drove around Washington after church on the weekend of the Pentagon march.) I was thinking, by gosh, what a big cleanup bill this city was going to face. It must be ankle deep in the trash they left...to some extent that demonstration was the fruits of affluence and permissiveness...It was about as unconstructive a work as I can remember seeing.

predecessors in office. Does this give you solace?
A. It helps to get it in perspective. You know it's not the first time it's happened and certainly not the last.
Q. Do you worry about the President's health?
A. Well, I'm always concerned. I don't think I actively worry...he has many pluses, safety valves, on his side. For instance, he can go to sleep whenever he see a spare 30 minutes on his schedule...That is a gift from heaven. I envy him that.

Nonwhites Get Better Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of nonwhites in office and supervisory jobs in certain firms in the Chicago area has increased in the past nine months, a study showed Sunday. The survey showed an increase of 433 jobs—a 33 per cent jump in the number of nonwhites holding such positions. Professional positions held by nonwhite climbed 27 per cent, or 316 jobs, during the same period. The study was made by the Merit Employment Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. It polled 1,023 member firms and found an over-all increase of 23,000 nonwhite employees.

It must be ankle deep in the trash they left...to some extent that demonstration was the fruits of affluence and permissiveness...It was about as unconstructive a work as I can remember seeing.

I feel boiling up in me the feeling I think is shared by millions of Americans—that we've got to start having more respect for the law—that we must start more firmly enforcing the law.

Q. The President frequently

A. It helps to get it in perspective. You know it's not the first time it's happened and certainly not the last.

Q. Do you worry about the President's health?

A. Well, I'm always concerned. I don't think I actively worry...he has many pluses, safety valves, on his side. For instance, he can go to sleep whenever he sees a spare 30 minutes on his schedule...That is a gift from heaven. I envy him that.

Nonwhites Get Better Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of nonwhites in office and supervisory jobs in certain firms in the Chicago area has increased in the past nine months, a study showed Sunday. The survey showed an increase of 433 jobs—a 33 per cent jump in the number of nonwhites holding such positions.

Professional positions held by nonwhite climbed 27 per cent, or 316 jobs, during the same period.

The study was made by the Merit Employment Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. It polled 1,023 member firms and found an over-all increase of 23,000 nonwhite employees.

Doctors' Fees

Physicians' fees have been rising sharply and, according to government officials, they are likely to continue going up. In 1966, fees jumped 7.8 per cent and Bureau of Labor Statistics figures show a gain of 8.9 per cent so far this year.

Medicare has been largely responsible for the larger bills to patients. Under this program doctors are permitted to charge the elderly full fees. Before Medicare the custom generally was to undercharge them.

Under the health programs, more elderly persons are getting medical care than ever. As a result, the demand for doctors' service is far ahead of the available doctors.

With hospital costs rising more sharply than doctors' fees, U. S. Health Department officials obviously are concerned about keeping the programs on a sound actuarial basis.

As they should be.

Having What They Want

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Professor Milton Friedman, president of the American Economic Association, doubts that the tax increase requested by the White House would act as a brake on the inflationary trend. His argument is based on the cynical observation that the government can always be counted on to spend more as it takes in more. The only way the government can be kept from expanding the so-called "public sector," says the professor, is to give it less.

But this is not the only reason inflation is bound to continue under war conditions no matter what the government's tax policy may be. The truth is that the people are just like the government itself: they are going to get what they want within certain limits whether they are taxed or untaxed or whether they pay five per cent or eight per cent for money. If they are taxed on the high side they will borrow more — and take the cost of borrowing as an income tax deduction. Meanwhile, the inflationary pressure will continue.

Big corporations have long been in the habit of using the public opinion testing resources of the University of Michigan Survey Research Center to forecast their markets. The surveys, based on small samples, are usually accurate enough, but there is always the argument that a limited coverage might miss fire. A new type of survey, presided over by Paul McCracken, a University of Michigan professor of business administration, and F. Thomas Juster, the architect of the consumer survey used by the U. S. Census Bureau and the National Bureau of Economic Research, now spots the purchasing projections of 15,000 households in all fifty states. As processed by the editors of the Commercial Credit Company's new quarterly, "Consumer Buying Prospects," the survey breaks future consumer demand down into specific categories.

According to the first "Consumer Buying Prospects" report, the American people will be off on a buying spree for the next six months, presumably without regard to tax predictions. Some $31 billion will be spent for new automobiles in that period, and around $33 billion for major household durables. There will be 900,000 new single-family houses started. Says Commercial Credit's executive vice president, LeBaron Willard Jr., "If automobile buying continues at this rate, it will make 1968 at least a nine-million-car year."

In his interpretation of the data, Professor McCracken presents a few "ifs." But, assuming that the projected Federal expenditures by mid-1968 will be roughly $15 billion per year higher than in this year's third quarter, while state and local outlays rise by $6 or $8 billion, the figures for Gross National Product are bound to rise. Capital outlays of businesses will continue to inch ahead, with "some evidence now of as much as a seven per cent gain from year-end 1967 to year-end 1968." Inventory accumulation is expected to resume as auto dealers restock their lots and inventories of steel are increased. So, says Professor McCracken, the upward pressure on the price level will continue. Inflation is here to stay.

What the supporters of a tax increase designed to mop up purchasing power fail to reckon with is the almost infinite willingness of the American consumer. Not so long ago mortgage money became so tight that new housing starts fell by the wayside. Cut off from the possibility of borrowing enough to buy the normal number of new homes in 1966, the American people turned more and more to mobile homes, which can be financed through credit company sources. One out of four single-family housing starts in 1966 was accounted for by a mobile home, and there are now two million mobile homes in the U.S.

The lesson would seem to be that as long as the industrial machine is capable of supplying goods over and above those required for war purposes, the American consumer will get what he wants. Increased taxation will be countered by increased borrowing for consumption purposes, with the interest deducted from taxable income. Heavier interest rates will shift buying patterns, as from standard housing to mobile homes, but buying will continue in volume.

No wonder Rep. Wilbur Mills, the head of the House Ways and Means Committee, won't give LBJ his tax increase before the government has cut down on its own spending.

Recovery from an illness or from surgery depends entirely on the individual. It is surprising to find that the elderly may sometimes recover far more rapidly than even the young, depending on their stamina and their emotional drive to get well.

I am always impressed by how rapidly women, especially those who have young children, recover because of their anxiety to return home.

The age, general physical condition and the severity of the operation are all factors that enter into the length of convalescence. It is well-known that

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years ago today I married my first wife.

We are still together, my last duchess and me, no more strangers now than we were when we set out to find each other so brief a long time ago.

"This looks like steady work," I muttered to myself as I carried my bride, Frances, across the threshold of our $35-a-month climb-the-stairs apartment in Greenwich Village in 1937.

And so far it has been. As weddings go, it didn't make much of a splash. It happened at one of those churches so busy you simply had to be there on time. If you showed up 15 minutes early, you might be baptized instead of married, and if you showed up 15 minutes late you might be buried.

I saved $5 by not having all the candles lit, and $10 by providing the music from the soul rather than paying for a hired hand to key the sounds. After all, when a fellow is embarking to a brave new world of two on $47.50 a week, he has to begin by pinching his pennies a bit. But, if I do say so myself, it was a memorable wedding banquet. It was held in an Italian basement restaurant, and the steaming spaghetti and meat balls seemed to come on forever, and the cheap red wine flowed like crimson champagne.

Since then that wedding has endured cockroaches and higher rents, moves on to new adventures, arguments and agreements, the sharings of happiness and dismay, and the wistful attempt to raise a child to the point where she has the ability to pay for her own telephone.

Looking back across that small eternity of union, I have concluded that it is only wonder that has kept it going.

For my part, I have often wondered why Frances has put up with me. For my wife's part, she has often wondered where I was, but when the phone has rung and someone has asked her where her husband was, she has usually loyally replied:

"Well, if there is a war going on somewhere, then Rover may be over there; and if there isn't a war on, then Rover positively should be home shortly, sooner or later."

Over the years many benedictions have asked me if I have any suggestions that might help make a marriage endure. I can think of only two. First, both partners shouldn't always worry about what to do with the money that is available. This problem should be given to the mind of whichever partner is best able to deal with it.

In my own case, I tried to handle the money for the first month, and found myself unequal to the struggle. So for the next 29 years and 11 months I have brought my paycheck home in my mouth to my wife, and tried to get as much as possible back later. We still aren't much ahead, but we've never been in a bankruptcy court. The second suggestion I would make for a lasting marriage is that the wife get up and cook her husband a good breakfast every day.

Frances got this idea in her childhood from a wise old-fashioned aunt she revered, and who once told her:

"When your time comes, dear, never forget to feed your husband well in the morning, and let him see the face he'll work for all day long to come back home to."

Well, Frances followed this advice sedulously. When I was single, I breakfasted on a sack of salted peanuts and a bottle of cola. But since she took over the breakfast doing, I start the day with orange juice, freshly squeezed, toast, a scrambled egg and two cups of tea. It does make a fellow feel different.

Once I was so grateful for the difference that in a reckless moment I promised my wife that on our 25th wedding anniversary I would get up and cook breakfast and serve it to her in bed. I forgot to do it, when the time came, so now I've promised to do it on our golden anniversary.

Marriage does odd things to people. It has turned my brown hair to silver, and my pretty brunette Frances into a lovely blonde.

Thirty years with a first wife. If a fellow isn't careful, a condition like this could become habit forming.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the fate of the free enterprise economy endangered by a bunch of unwashed, unkempt, fuzzy-minded youths lacking goals or business instinct but now, inevitably, attaining more important roles in the economy? This is the nightmare that in a few frantic moments some businessmen see before them. Some sociologists and educators tend to agree that the nightmare could become reality.

Dr. Marshall McLuhan, the famed Canadian professor and social critic, even foresees the economic depression resulting from this takeover of the economy by a generation poorly adapted to the demands of business.

The nightmare theory may ignore some important factors, however, including the prospect that youthful rebels often become conventional adults, transition that parents may recall from their own experience. It may give too little value also to the fact that youthful protests, a consistent theme of society, often inspires constructive change by exposing weaknesses, inequities and falsehoods. Business could benefit from protests.

In any event, the number of hippies probably has been overestimated, although a teen-ager doesn't need to look like a hippie to sympathize with some hippie beliefs.

The most powerful tranquilizer for businessmen's nightmares is a change of viewpoint, to realize, for instance, that the society that produces hippies produces Peace Corps volunteers as well.

A changed point of view may also reveal that, although much of the business community doesn't attempt to communicate with younger generations, some business organizations make it their avocation.

In the Junior Achievement program, businessmen and industrialists give guidance to those 150,000 high school students in organizing and managing their own small-scale businesses.

This educational program, now 48 years old, has chapters in more than 500 communities, where youngsters organize businesses by selling stock and then operate their business, hopefully, for profit. In doing so they learn about profit and loss statements, taxes, mergers and, if need be, bankruptcies.

As an antidote to all the publicity about hippies, the Reader's Digest has chosen 16 outstanding Junior Achievers from around the country and is sending them out as speakers. The students will write their own speeches; they won't be censored.

Based on interviews conducted by the Digest and Junior Achievement for The Associated Press, their talks will be informed, tolerant and generally acceptable to the business community. But they might provoke it as well.

One of the questions was this: "Do you feel that the institution of private enterprise is equipped to help solve some of our great sociological problems?" A few of the answers, greatly abbreviated, follow.

Michael Collins, 19, Columbus, Georgia: "Yes, private enterprise could do it if only it would try. Somebody needs to get in there and tell those businessmen, 'You can do it.' And they can."

A. Vyzenski, 18, Dayton, Ohio: "Not only do I think that business can, but it MUST attempt to solve many of our sociological problems. If business allows the federal government to assume ALL the initiative and responsibility, then it deserves the bad image that it now possesses."

Donna Stone, 17, Atlanta, Georgia: "Scholarships and jobs provided by businesses for industrious and capable members of ghettos could bring about self-improvement in those areas."

Steve Tvork, 18, Cleveland, Ohio: "There is only one institution in society capable of acting to abolish poverty, the federal government."

These are youthful opinions today. They may be the ingredients of decisions tomorrow.

Hollywood's Moving

By GENE HANDSAKER
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film production away from Hollywood. Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson." With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 20 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures ballyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonora, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railroads.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona eased its workmen's compensation law and Colorado its state tax to encourage movie-making. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Why? Money, mostly. Stimulation of the local economy and tourist-attraction publicity.

In Moab, Utah—population

1,100—where Paramount filmed "Blue" and "Fate-in" simultaneously this summer, the week reported: "Both bankers agree the monetary impact has upgraded the town's economy. Extra service has been established to facilitate check cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year.

"Old bills are being paid, almost all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with Paramount checks."

Druggists, barbers, motels and restaurants profited from the 200 Hollywood visitors and daily hiring of 100 to 125 local extras. Fiddle players, square-dance callers and wranglers were recruited through the state employment department. Pay ranged from $15 a day for walk-through extras to $20 for horseback riders.

"I wrote checks totaling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Kenny, production manager on the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school. They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Movie companies are required to remove sets built on location. But for $1 Kenny sold a Mexican street set on plane land to a rancher, who planned to erect it on his own land and rent it to movie companies. "That saved us $10,000 to $15,000 in removal costs," said Kenny.

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally hired extras got about $40,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start if they can't bear sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Three films are on location this week in New York and one each in Miami; Selma, Ala.; Bracketville, Tex., and Sedona, Ariz. But, says the Moab weekly: "Motion picture filming business doesn't come accidentally—a town must go after it."

A Moab committee visits Hollywood annually to extend invitation and distribute color brochures of the town's red rock scenery.

A huge new sign was erected by the State Highway Dept. in response to local protests that the new Route 23 by-pass signs were misleading drivers right past Circleville. The new sign was 6 by 10 feet-all aluminum with reflector type paint which washed itself in the rain. The first sign of its kind to be erected anywhere, according to highway division officials.

The Russians had sent a missile into orbit with the dog, Laika. In a series published by the Herald on pertinent and newsy items, the question was asked of persons in downtown Circleville — "What do you think of the dog dying in Sputnik?" The answers were: —

Paul Adkins, attorney — "I have a dog at home who wants to volunteer to ride in Sputnik III."

Robert Huffer, attorney — "I don't see how any dog could live under conditions of such a fast takeoff. In fact, the whole thing is hard to believe."

IT DEVELOPS that the normal male's fear of lady drivers dates all the way back to the days of Nero and Julius Caesar. F. C. Turner, director of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has dug up an ancient Roman traffic regulation: Lady charioteers were sternly forbidden to drive on Sundays anywhere within the city limits!

Fortune tellers in the Argentine are going to be a lot more careful with their predictions since the embarrassing confrontation suffered by Buenos Aires seeress Carmina. A sad-eyed patroness told Carmina, "I'm poor as a church mouse, and don't know where my next month's rent is coming from." Carmina peered intently into her crystal ball and intoned, "Cheer up. You can count on a windfall in short order." The patroness thereupon clonked the all-too-accurate seeress on the noggin with the crystal ball, scooped up over three thousand dollars in the cash-box, and disappeared in the general direction of Uruguay.

At a swinging Easthampton weekend, the ten-year-old son of the house kept getting underfoot and inhibiting his elders. His father finally barked, "Why don't you go down to the beach and play with that surf board you found yesterday?" "I can't," explained the sterling lad. "I might run into the boy I found from."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How long does it take to recover completely from an operation on the gall bladder, appendix or prostate?

Recuperation from an illness or from surgery depends entirely on the individual. It is surprising to find that the elderly may sometimes recover far more rapidly than even the young, depending on their stamina and their emotional drive to get well.

I am always impressed by how rapidly women, especially those who have young children, recover because of their anxiety to return home.

The age, general physical condition and the severity of the operation are all factors that enter into the length of convalescence. It is well-known that some people exploit their illness and remain emotional invalids for many months even though their bodies have returned to normal function.

Convalescence is shortened because patients are now encouraged to get out of beds within 24 to 48 hours after surgery. This method prevents some of the complications of surgery and acts as an incentive to a speedy return to full activity.

A week or 10 days after such surgery is the convalescent period for the operation itself. The weakness may persist for a number of weeks afterwards and must be catered to.

The return to a complete work program should not be hurried. Many people pretend that they are back to full activity only to find that they are performing only 50 per cent of their capabilities. Don't rush your doctor into giving you the complete "go" signal.

Is there any reliable way to predict how tall a ten-year-old child will grow to be if he is shorter than most of the boys of his age?

There are tables of predictions by which endocrine specialists can speculate about the eventual size of a child. In order to use these tables accurately a complete endocrine survey is made. There is probably no more complex or difficult study than the hormone content of the blood and the urine.

When there is a known deficiency, treatment can begin and the rate of progress is used as an indication of what can be expected.

In normally growing children it is said that a boy of nine years of age and a girl of seven years of age have reached about three quarters of their expected adult height.

It is important to point out that the family pattern of height is a fair indication of the height a child will attain under ordinary health conditions and with good nutrition.

Parents of small children reflect their own anxiety when their child is one of the smallest in the class. It is likely that he will obtain normal height.

It is most important that he be made secure and happy and helped to adjust to his temporary height deficiency. When this is not done, he may grow to be "six feet tall" but be left with a feeling of inadequacy.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years ago today I married my first wife.

We are still together, my last duchess and me, no more strangers now than we were when we set out to find each other so brief a long time ago.

"This looks like steady work," I muttered to myself as I carried my bride, Frances, across the threshold of our $35-a-month climb-the-stairs apartment in Greenwich Village in 1937.

And so far it has been. As weddings go, it didn't make much of a splash. It happened at one of those churches so busy you simply had to be there on time. If you showed up 15 minutes early, you might be baptized instead of married, and if you showed up 15 minutes late you might be buried.

I saved $5 by not having all the candles lit, and $10 by providing the music from the soul rather than paying for a hired hand to key the sounds.

After all, when a fellow is embarking to a brave new world of two on $47.50 a week, he has to begin by pinching his pennies a bit. But, if I do say so myself, it was a memorable wedding banquet. It was held in an Italian basement restaurant, and the steaming spaghetti and meat balls seemed to come on forever, and the cheap red wine flowed like crimson champagne.

Since then that wedding has endured cockroaches and higher rents, movings on to new adventures, arguments and agreements, the sharings of happinesses and dismay, and the wistful attempt to raise a child to the point where she has the ability to pay for her own telephone.

Looking back across that small eternity of union, I have concluded that it is only wonder that has kept it going.

For my part, I have often wondered why Frances has put up with me.

For my wife's part, she has often wondered where I was. But when the phone has rung and someone has asked her where her husband was, she has usually loyally replied:

"Well, if there is a war going on somewhere, then Rover may be over there; and if there isn't a war on, then Rover positively should be home shortly, sooner or later."

Over the years many benedictions have asked me if I have any suggestions that might help make a marriage endure. I can think of only two.

First, both partners shouldn't always worry about what to do with the money that is available. This problem should be given to the mind of whichever partner is best able to deal with it.

In my own case, I tried to handle the money for the first month, and found myself unequal to the struggle. So for the next 29 years and 11 months I have brought my paycheck home in my mouth to my wife.

And tried to get as much as possible back later. We still aren't much ahead, but we've never been in a bankruptcy court.

The second suggestion I would make for a lasting marriage is that the wife get up and cook her husband a good breakfast every day.

Frances got this idea in her childhood from a wise old-fashioned aunt she revered, and who once told her:

"When your time comes, dear, never forget to feed your husband well in the morning, and let him see the face he'll work for all day long to come back home to."

Well, Frances followed this advice sedulously. When I was single, I breakfasted on a sack of salted peanuts and a bottle of cola. But since she took over the breakfast doing, I start the day with orange juice, freshly squeezed, toast, a scrambled egg and two cups of tea. It does make a fellow feel different.

Once I was so grateful for the difference that in a reckless moment I promised my wife that on our 25th wedding anniversary I would get up and cook breakfast and serve it to her in bed. I forgot to do it, when the time came, so now I've promised to do it on our golden anniversary.

Marriage does odd things to people. It has turned my brown hair to silver, and my pretty brunette Frances into a lovely blonde.

Thirty years with a first wife. If a fellow isn't careful, a condition like this could become habit forming.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the fate of the free enterprise economy endangered by a bunch of unwashed, unkempt, fuzzy-minded youths lacking goals or business instinct but now, inevitably, attaining more important roles in the economy? This is the nightmare that in a few frantic moments some business men see before them. Some sociologists and educators tend to agree that the nightmare could become reality.

Dr. Marshall McLuhan, the famed Canadian professor and social critic, even foresees an economic depression resulting from this takeover of the economy by a generation poorly adapted to the demands of business.

The nightmare theory may ignore some important factors, however, including the prospect that youthful rebels often become conventional adults, transition that parents may recall from their own experience. It may give too little value also to the fact that youthful protests, a consistent theme of society, often inspires constructive change by exposing weaknesses, inequities and falsehoods. Business could benefit from protests.

In any event, the number of hippies probably has been overestimated, although a teen-ager doesn't need to look like a hippie to sympathize with some hippie beliefs.

The most powerful tranquilizer for businessmen's nightmares is a change of viewpoint, to realize, for instance, that the society that produces hippies produces Peace Corps volunteers as well.

A changed point of view may also reveal that, although much of the business community doesn't attempt to communicate with younger generations, some business organizations make it their avocation.

In the Junior Achievement program, businessmen and industrialists give guidance to 150,000 high school students in organizing and managing their own small-scale businesses.

This educational program, now 48 years old, has chapters in more than 500 communities, where youngsters organize businesses by selling stock and then operate their business, hopefully, for profit. In doing so they learn about profit and loss statements, taxes, mergers and, if need be, bankruptcies.

As an antidote to all the publicity about hippies, the Reader's Digest has chosen 16 outstanding Junior Achievers from around the country and is sending them out as speakers. The students will write their own speeches; they won't be censored.

Based on interviews conducted by the Digest and Junior Achievement for The Associated Press, their talks will be informed, tolerant and generally acceptable to the business community. But they might provoke it as well.

One of the questions was this: "Do you feel that the institution of private enterprise is equipped to help solve some of our great sociological problems." A few of the answers, greatly abbreviated, follow.

Michael Collins, 19, Columbus, Georgia: "Yes, private enterprise could do it if only it would try. Somebody needs to get in there and tell those businessmen, 'You can do it.' And they can."

A. Vyzenski, 18, Dayton, Ohio: "Not only do I think that business can, but it MUST attempt to solve many of our sociological problems. If business allows the federal government to assume ALL the initiative and responsibility, then it deserves the bad image that it now possesses."

Donna Stone, 17, Atlanta, Georgia: "Scholarships and jobs provided by businesses for industrious and capable members of ghettos could bring about self-improvement in those areas."

Steve Tvorik, 18, Cleveland, Ohio: "There is only one institution in society capable of acting to abolish poverty, the federal government."

These are youthful opinions today. They may be the ingredients of decisions tomorrow.

Hollywood's Moving

By GENE HANDSAKER
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film production away from Hollywood. Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson." With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 20 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures ballyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonoma, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railroads.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona eased its workmen's compensation law and Colorado its state tax to encourage movie-making. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Why? Money, mostly. Stimulation of the local economy and tourist-attraction publicity.

In Moab, Utah—population

1,500—where Paramount filmed "Blue" and "Fate-in" simultaneously this summer, the week reported: "Both bankers agree the monetary impact has up-graded the town's economy. Extra service has been established to facilitate check cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year."

"Old bills are being paid, almost all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with Paramount checks."

Druggists, barbers, motels and restaurants profited from the 200 Hollywood visitors and daily hiring of 100 to 125 local extras. Fiddle players, square-dance callers and wranglers were recruited through the state employment department. Pay ranged from $15 a day for walk-through extras to $20 for horseback riders.

"I wrote checks totaling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Kenny, production manager on the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school. They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Movie companies are required to remove sets built on location. But for $1 Kenny sold a Mexican street set on state land to a rancher, who planned to erect it on his own land and rent it to movie companies. "That saved us $10,000 to $15,000 in removal costs," said Kenny.

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally hired extras got about $40,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start if they can't bear sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Three films are on location this week in New York and one each in Miami; Selma, Ala.; Brackettville, Tex., and Sedona, Ariz. But, says the Moab weekly: "Motion picture filming business doesn't come accidentally—a town must go after it."

A Moab committee visits Hollywood annually to extend invitation and distribute color brochures of the town's red rock scenery.

3 Americans May Already Be Released

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. spokesman said today that three American sergeants already may have been released by the Viet Cong which had announced earlier it would free them.

The spokesman said a Viet Cong broadcast early today indicated the three prisoners of war were released last Tuesday. But he said U.S. official did not know where.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio, the spokesman said, made this comment: "Once again, the release of U.S. prisoners of war on Oct. 31 demonstrates the strength and just cause of the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and its profound humanity." Previous Communist broadcasts said only that the Viet Cong would turn loose the three American sergeants and U.S. authorities had called on the Communists to say when and where.

On the basis of the earlier broadcasts, U.S. authorities have identified the men as M. Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C., M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif. and S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va.

Humphrey Has Bali Holiday

JAKARTA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today and prepared for more talks with Indonesia's acting President Suharto, whose mediation in the Vietnam war he reportedly has sought.

Humphrey was to be host tonight at a dinner for Suharto after a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project.

A spokesman for Suharto said Humphrey had asked the Indonesian government to mediate in the Vietnam war and that Suharto replied the war could be solved only if all parties involved sincerely wanted an end to it.

Street Closed By Big Carpet

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — They had to close Portland's principal business street Sunday so a carpet could be laid in a jewelry store.

Ohio Soprano Wins Met Cash

NEW YORK (AP)—A soprano from Ohio, a soprano from Japan and a mezzo-soprano from Mississippi won the three top prizes at the annual Metropolitan Opera auditions for young singers Sunday night. But the usual top prize, $2,500 plus a year's contract at the Met, was not awarded by the 28 judges.

Constance Cucaro, 22, of Fremont, Ohio, who sings under the name of Contanza Cuccare, won first prize, $2,000 from St. Louis. Miss Cucaro sang an aria from Bellini's "La Sonnambula" and sang as Sophie in the final Sophie-Octavian duet in "Der Rosenkavalier."

Sakiko Kanamori, 27, of Kochi City, Japan, who came to the United States to study music in 1959, won second prize $2,000.

Mezzo Paula Page, 24, of Jackson, Miss., won the Metropolitan Opera studio scholarship of $500.

Ford Workers Back on Job

DETROIT (AP) — Cars rolled off Ford Motor Co. assembly lines today for the first time since Sept. 6, when the United Auto Workers struck the nation's no. 2 automaker and won record gains for 160,000 UAW members at Ford.

At Chrysler, the union's no. 2 target, bargainers worked against a Wednesday midnight deadline to come up with a contract covering the firm's 95,000 production workers and 8,000 salaried workers represented by the union.

Ford assembly lines were closed for 80 days, 46 of them during a national strike by the union and the last two weeks over local disputes.

Ford workers won roughly a dollar an hour more in wages and fringe benefits above the previous big-three rate of $4.79 an hour.

Mrs. Kennedy Dedicates Street

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy dedicated a broad boulevard to her late husband today with the wish that he could have been present.

With Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, at her side, the president's widow dedicated the boulevard in Cambodia's new port and made a brief nonpolitical reply to the prince's welcome and praise of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and her party flew to Sihanoukville, on the southern coast, after three quiet days of sightseeing at the famed temple ruins at Angkor.

into the oven, sets the time and temperature, and then goes about other business with studied indifference toward her cooking. She can afford a great show of confidence because her Gas oven will automatically stop cooking at precisely the correct moment and keep her dinner piping hot, without overcooking or drying out, until everyone is ready to eat.

Needless to say, the whole family is happy with Mom's new flame. And Mom is happy with her new reputation.

3 Americans May Already Be Released

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. spokesman said today that three American sergeants already may have been released by the Viet Cong which had announced earlier it would free them.

The spokesman said a Viet Cong broadcast early today indicated the three prisoners of war were released last Tuesday. But he said U.S. official did not know where.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio, the spokesman said, made this comment: "Once again, the release of U.S. prisoners of war on Oct. 31 demonstrates the strength and just cause of the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and its profound humanity." Previous Communist broadcasts said only that the Viet Cong would turn loose the three American sergeants and U.S. authorities had called on the Communists to say when and where.

On the basis of the earlier broadcasts, U.S. authorities have identified the men as M. Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C., M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif. and S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va.

Humphrey Has Bali Holiday

JAKARTA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today and prepared for more talks with Indonesia's acting President Suharto, whose mediation in the Vietnam war he reportedly has sought.

Humphrey was to be host to night at a dinner for Suharto after a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project.

A spokesman for Suharto said Humphrey had asked the Indonesian government to mediate in the Vietnam war and that Suharto replied the war could be solved only if all parties involved sincerely wanted an end to it.

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — They had to close Portland's principal business street Sunday so a carpet could be laid in a jewelry store.

Ohio Soprano Wins Met Cash

NEW YORK (AP)—A soprano from Ohio, a soprano from Japan and a mezzo-soprano from Mississippi won the three top prizes at the annual Metropolitan Opera auditions for young singers Sunday night. But the usual top prize, $2,500 plus a year's contract at the Met, was not awarded by the 28 judges.

Constance Cucaro, 22, of Fremont, Ohio, who sings under the name of Contanza Cuccare, won first prize, $2,000 from Stuart and Irene Chambers of St. Louis. Miss Cucaro sang an aria from Bellini's "La Sonnambula" and sang as Sophie in the final Sophie-Octavian duet in "Der Rosenkavalier."

Sakiko Kanamori, 27, of Kochi City, Japan, who came to the United States to study music in 1959, won second prize $2,000.

Mezzo Paula Page, 24, of Jackson, Miss., won the Metropolitan Opera studio scholarship of $500.

Ford Workers Back on Job

DETROIT (AP) — Cars rolled off Ford Motor Co. assembly lines today for the first time since Sept. 6, when the United Auto Workers struck the nation's no. 2 automaker and won record gains for 160,000 UAW members at Ford.

At Chrysler, the union's no. 2 target, bargainers worked against a Wednesday midnight deadline to come up with a contract covering the firm's 95,000 production workers and 8,000 salaried workers represented by the union.

Ford assembly lines were closed for 60 days, 46 of them during a national strike by the union and the last two weeks over local disputes.

Ford workers won roughly a dollar an hour more in wages and fringe benefits above the previous big-three rate of $4.70 an hour.

Mrs. Kennedy Dedicates Street

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy dedicated a broad boulevard to her late husband today with the wish that he could have been present.

With Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, at her side, the president's widow dedicated the boulevard in Cambodia's new port and made a brief nonpolitical reply to the prince's welcome and praise of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and her party flew to Sihanoukville, on the southern coast, after three quiet days of sightseeing at the famed temple ruins at Angkor.

MOM'S GOT A REPUTATION SINCE SHE GOT HER NEW FLAME.

She has a reputation as one of the best cooks in the neighborhood. And she owes it all to her handsome, easy-going new flame—a modern Gas range.

Mom, the chef, is always dropping names like Burner-with-a-Brain, and Oven-with-a-Mind and automatic rotisserie. And names like broiled filet en crouste, spinach souffle, quiche Lorraine and ham mousse.

In fact, Mom's something of a show-off with her "Programmed Gas Cooking." She just puts the food into the oven, sets the time and temperature, and then goes about other business with studied indifference toward her cooking. She can afford a great show of confidence because her Gas oven will automatically stop cooking at precisely the correct moment and keep her dinner piping hot, without overcooking or drying out, until everyone is ready to eat.

Needless to say, the whole family is happy with Mom's new flame. And Mom is happy with her new reputation.

Ohio's New Traffic Laws

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a series, by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, on new traffic laws passed by the 107th General Assembly.

Ohio's legislature, in a comprehensive and far-reaching set of new laws, has applied the brakes to the state's inadequate and inebrated drivers. The new laws become effective Jan. 1, 1968.

Described by both Governor James A. Rhodes as "the greatest step Ohio or any other state has ever taken to cut the carnage on its highways," the new laws, among other things, will:

Make mandatory a 30-day license suspension, imprisonment of between three days and six months, and a fine of up to $500 for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor or drugs.

Boost the point assessment for certain types of violations, force reexamination of drivers with more than seven points, and decrease automatic loss of license when drivers total 12 points.

Provide spot or random inspection of vehicles, by teams of highway patrolmen and mechanics, to keep unsafe automobiles off the highways.

Eliminate the use of warning signs at radar check points.

Replace the charge of second degree manslaughter with first and second degree homicide by vehicle, with mandatory minimum penalties.

Boost the price of three-year driver licenses from 75 cents to $4, add social security number and color photograph, and eliminate "complexion" from such licenses.

Force motorcyclists to take a special driving test, and to wear protective helmets and goggles.

Invoke the "implied consent" element into drinking-driving charges, forcing motorists to take an alcoholic-content test or forfeit their license.

Deny driver licenses to anyone under 18 unless he has passed a driver education course in high school or approved commercial classes — and set up driver education courses financed by increased driver license fees in all high schools.

Impute wanton conduct of minor in operation of motor vehicle to person who vouched for him in obtaining driver license.

Move legal date for display of new license plates from March 1 to March 16, cutting purchase period from six weeks to one month prior to April 16 deadline.

Make mandatory the use of slow-moving vehicle emblems on a 24-hour basis, instead of just during hours of darkness.

Detailed explanations of all the new laws will be made in separate stories during the remainder of the series.

Have Trouble Finding Way To Replace CIA Subsidies

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential advisers have uncovered formidable problems in seeking an above-the-table substitute for secret dealings by the Central Intelligence Agency in subsidizing certain American activities abroad.

The supersecret intelligence-gathering agency is supposedly out of the business of subsidizing private groups—on presidential orders.

Disclosure that the CIA was financing some overseas activities of the National Students Association at international youth conferences created an uproar in Congress, in colleges and in public debate early this year. It was revealed that CIA money had also gone to labor unions and other organizations, in addition to NSA. The funds passed through foundations without CIA being revealed as the source, most recipients reported.

While the search for another source of funds to replace the secret flow from the CIA isn't proving easy, the opinion of some of the 18 presidential advisory committee members who will comment is that the road blocks aren't insurmountable.

They said a meeting of the committee this month may go a long way toward ending debate and getting down to the writing of recommendations which President Johnson asked for last March 29.

But another member said Secretary of State Dean Rusk has so many other problems, including those of Vietnam, that no urgent priority has been placed on creating an agency to take over the subsidy program. Rusk heads the advisory committee.

Among the proposals the committee is considering is designation of the Smithsonian Institution as a source of funds for American groups attending functions abroad. Another idea is to create a special panel or commission to do it.

The ethics of secret subsidization of Americans abroad, the impact that openly stated subsidization might have on the effectiveness of U.S. representatives at international meetings and the ideological questions involved have been given serious attention, one member of the advisory committee said.

He added that it appears likely the committee will propose that a panel of citizens from private and public life take over the allotment of subsidies.

He said the thinking is that this panel would have to include members of unassailable reputation for integrity, honesty and fair dealing. They would also have to be knowledgeable in world affairs so their judgments would be respected, he said.

'Civil Rats' Bill Heads For Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration-backed rat control bill, once hooted down by the House but later patched into an omnibus health measure, appears headed for Senate approval.

The rat eradication program, now part of a two-year extension of various public health programs to cost $589 million, is up for Senate debate today with a vote predicted. The House, with some members cracking jokes and others claiming rat control was a matter for states and not the federal government to handle, earlier this year declined even to take up the administration's proposal for a $49 million, two-year program.

The bantering rejection of the bill drew strong criticism from President Johnson and civil rights leaders, and the House later accepted the program's inclusion in the public health measure.

Also likely to be voted on today is a House-passed bill providing $299.8 million for a three-year extension of federal aid to deal with problems of mental retardation.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he also hoped to win passage today of legislation prohibiting discrimination against employment of any persons because of age. It would apply to 40 million Americans between 40 and 65 years of age.

Continuing what shapes up as one of its busiest weeks of the session, the Senate also plans to take up Tuesday the biggest education bill of the year—a $14 billion measure to extend the Elementary and Secondary School Act for three years.

See Loc Ninh Battle Try For Red '2nd Front

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
LOC NINH, Vietnam (AP) — The Communists may be trying to establish a "second front" in Vietnam with their drawn out military offensive in the rubber-growing district of Loc Ninh, which faces the Cambodian frontier.

That is the consensus of many military observers. They are beginning to discount the initial theory that the Communists were merely seeking a quick propaganda victory which they began to attack this isolated district headquarters last weekend.

Like the demilitarized zone, the "first front" of the Vietnam war, Loc Ninh is in a remote region with terrain favorable to the enemy, and a sanctuary nearby, this time in Cambodia. The North Vietnamese have succeeded in sucking a whole U.S. Marine Division into a holding action along the DMZ, pounding forward Leatherneck outposts daily with mortars and artillery.

Almost as many U.S. infantry men will be committed to Loc Ninh if the battle continues much longer. Already, five U.S. battalions are deployed in the area.

U.S. intelligence officers find prisoners and documents captured so far give conflicting as-essment of the enemy aim. One group of prisoners said their mission was to "take Loc Ninh at any cost." Another group said their mission was to "engage Americans in battle." A third said the Loc Ninh battles heralded the beginning of a "winter-spring offensive."

Whatever the true reason, the Communists have shown unusual tenacity and determination around Loc Ninh.

U.S. authorities said 860 Communists had been killed by Friday in the series of actions, including casualties inflicted by air and artillery.

Allied losses were given as 11

Americans killed and 66 wounded; 23 Vietnamese killed and 74 wounded.

U.S. officers said all reports Friday indicated the Communists were still "in an offensive stance."

This stance included the presence of the 272nd Regiment, a sister regiment to the 273rd in the 9th Division. U.S. intelligence indicates that 70 per cent of this formerly full Viet Cong division is now comprised of North Vietnamese.

Since early this year the Communists have been building up their strength, particularly in the past two months.

U.S. intelligence officers were aware of the buildup and it was evident that, sooner or later, American troops would have to tangle with the Communists. The Communists decided to move first.

Binh Long Province in which Loc Ninh is situated, is one of the poorest in Vietnam despite its rubber output. Only 80,000 people live in the whole province, 20,000 of these in Loc Ninh. Most work on rubber plantations. The province is at the end of a C-mun it supply line that GIs call the Sihanouk trail. Prince Norodom Sihanouk is the chief of state of avowedly neutral Cambodia. The supply-line runs from the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos down the Cambodian border. North Vietnamese prisoners captured in recent days say they infiltrated into Vietnam through Cambodia.

U.S. intelligence men believe that the regiments of the Communist 9th Division are based in South Vietnam, but receive supplies and reinforcements from across the board.

The Loc Ninh region is of commercial value to the Communists because of the large rubber holdings. The town is on a road from Saigon, Highway 13. But there would seem to be little strategic value to the Communists to occupy the town or the Special Forces ca They have complete freedom of movement in the jungled country side.

There seems little doubt that if the Communists continue their offensive they will continue to take massive casualties. The United States is beefing up its artillery and B52 raids are launched frequently.

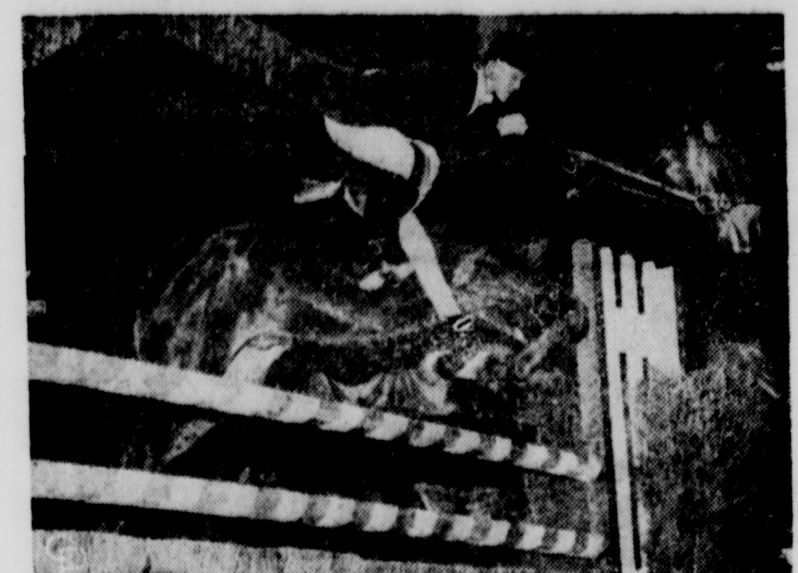

So far, allied forces have been largely unhurt.

Military sources point out, however, that the Communists have always proved willing to take maximum casualties if they figure the sacrifice is worth it. The U.S. Marines were lured to the DMZ at terrific cost to the Communists.

U.S. rifle officers agree that the Communist ploy succeeded. U.S. forces have been drained from the population centers along the northern coast, with a resulting setback to the pacification program.

Dear Abby: Preacher's Kid Proud of Dad

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column signed "P. K." which means "Preacher's Kid," and it sure made me mad. She said she didn't want to tell people that she was a preacher's kid because she didn't want to be treated any different. As a matter of fact, she sounded like she was ashamed.

Well, I have news for her, Abby, whether she likes it or not she is "branded," so to speak. But she has the wrong idea. If she knew what a privilege it is to be a preacher's kid, she would be telling everyone about it, instead of hiding it.

Abby, I know what it's like to be a preacher's kid because I am one, and I never felt that people treated me any different because of it, and I've always had plenty of friends.

Maybe this girl's problem is not with her daddy, but with herself. I've got the best daddy in the world, and I thank God that he's a preacher. I wouldn't want him to be anything else.

PROUD P. K.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the "P. K." who said that as soon as kids found out she was a preacher's kid, they didn't want her for a friend:

I am not a preacher's kid, but I know a few, and I think I know their problem. They are so worried that people will think they are "goody goodies" that they go to extremes to act just the opposite, and turn out to be the wildest, pushiest kids around. (Especially the girls)

Preacher's kids should just act normal. Most kids don't care what another kid's father does anyway.

KNOWS SOME

DEAR ABBY: I have a very serious problem and you are the only person I can ask for help.

I think I have a venereal disease, and don't know what to do about it. I noticed it about 3 months ago, but wasn't sure what it was. I'm still not sure, but I know that something is wrong.

I can't go to our family doctor because I am too ashamed and embarrassed. Besides, I'm afraid he will tell my parents, I don't know where to turn, Abby, but I know I have to do something about this for my own good.

Any help you can give in your column will be very much appreciated. Thank you.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You can go to your family doctor and be sure that he will treat you and not betray your confidence. If you doubt it, then telephone your local health department. (Look in the yellow pages under "government offices, city and county.") Tell them you want to see a doctor, and why. I urge you to act at once! Your health, and the health of those around you, is at stake.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please inform your readers that when a woman becomes a widow she does not suddenly become "Mrs. Jane Anybody." She remains "Mrs. John Somebody."

I lost my husband a few months ago, and so many of my well meaning (but ignorant) friends have started to address their letters to "Mrs. Jane Doe."

Ohio Political Delegations To Swing Heavy Weight

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's delegation to the Democratic and Republican national conventions next year will carry about the same weight in the party presidential nominations.

political interest has perked up with appearances of potential presidential candidates in Ohio. Two native sons, Gov. James Rhodes and Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay, retired, have been mentioned. The Republican National Committee has allotted Ohio 58 delegates, with a full vote each in the GOP convention opening Aug. 5 at Miami Beach, Fla., ranking the state fourth behind New York, California and Pennsylvania in vote strength. The Democratic National Committee tentatively has projected 115 convention votes for Ohio in the party convention opening Aug. 26 at Chicago, ranking the state in a fifth place tie with Texas. Ohio's constitution requires convention delegate candidates to state their first and second choices for president. Names are printed on election ballots below the delegate candidates' names, provided the required written consent is obtained from those chosen. Buckeye delegate candidates customarily make a "favorite son" their first choice for president and honor a prominent party member with second choice.

Gov. James A. Rhodes was the Ohio Republican "favorite son" in the 1964 convention and appears likely to repeat that role next year. He has disclaimed any national political ambitions. Albert S. Porter of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, was the "favorite son" of his party's Ohio delegation last time out but early reports of rivalries make the 1968 selection less definite. Although delegates pledge to cast their first convention votes for nomination of their "favorite son" they are only nominally bound to do so and some have bolted in past conventions. Rhodes released his delegates before the 1964 convention opened and they voted to nominate Barry Goldwater of Arizona, with the exception of a single vote for U.S. Sen.

Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Ohio Democrats voted solidly for nomination of President Johnson and his sweep of the Buckeye State in that general election will give next year's Ohio delegation 10 bonus votes in the Chicago convention.

Delegate candidates pledged to other than Democratic or Republican "favorite sons" can get on primary ballots by filing petitions carrying between 100 and 500 signatures of party electors in congressional districts and between 1,000 and 5,000 at-large.

Reds Wanting Summit Meet Likely To Be Frustrated

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Moscow is swarming with Communist leaders from around the world during the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Bolshevik power, but those who want to use the event for a world Communist strategy conference are likely to be frustrated. The chances for such a conference, for at least another year, are dim. This represents a Soviet defeat.

and again at a meeting of almost 70 parties in East Germany. The Soviet party has not given up but the effort appeared doomed. The opponents pointed out that, in the first place, a global meeting at this time would be impossible since the Chinese and their supporters surely would boycott it. On the other hand, they argued, if the Russians insisted, the anti-Moscow parties headed by the Chinese probably would call their own conference, and that would make the chasm between the two factions wider than ever.

For the past six months, Moscow has persistently propagandized the idea of a global conference. The last such was seven years ago, and the Soviet party leadership has seemed desperate to halt the continual splintering of the movement which has gone on since then.

Moscow had the support, sometimes reluctant, of the Communist parties of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria. The idea was to send out an invitation to all parties around the world, including the Chinese and those who support them.

The Chinese were more than likely to treat the invitation and the whole nation with lofty scorn. The Yugoslav, Romanian and Italian Communists were dead set against any attempt to hold a meeting on a global basis and now are freely predicting that nothing of the sort can take place before the end of 1968, if then.

What this means, apparently, is that communism as a world movement hardly exists any more. Indeed, the Chinese are now being accused by Western Communists, typified by Rudolf Ghioldi of Argentina in a recent Pravda article, of regarding Marxism-Leninism as a purely Russian concept.

This erosion of the movement is going on in all continents, and particularly in areas which followers of Mao Tse-tung call "the third world," which by his reckoning ultimately will be arrayed against all advanced countries, including the Soviet Union.

Worried about this tendency, Moscow began early this year trying to line up support for a world conference whose unannounced purpose would be to condemn Maoist ideas. The Russians failed, first a meeting of party leaders in Czechoslovakia

Smoking Pills Said No Good

NEW YORK (AP) — No product on the market will do the job of quitting smoking for you, a Food and Drug Administration official says.

Weems L. Clevanger, director of the FDA's New York District office, said smokers have been asking the FDA about products sold to those who wish to stop smoking.

SENDS AIR MEDAL BACK—Former Navy flyer James Clark Child, 29, who flew A4C Skyhawks from the carrier Ranger in 1965 and is in his second year of studies for the Presbyterian ministry at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, has returned his Air Medal he won over Vietnam to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. Child said he has come to the conclusion that the Vietnam war is immoral and futile.

Bicycle Theft Ring Broken

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detectives in St. Louis and suburban University City said they broke a bicycle theft ring over the weekend. Included in the roundup was 100 bicycles, 11 juveniles and a 60-year-old man.

Booked on charges of suspected burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor was James H. Schmidt of St. Louis.

Officers found two stolen bicycles in Schmidt's basement, along with five other stripped-down frames. Officers also located what they called "a truck load" of frames at another apartment.

Police said Schmidt admitted buying two bicycles from boys but said he planned to give them to neighborhood children as Christmas presents.

IKE "DISTURBED"—Declaring he is "disturbed" by the current wave of campus demonstrations, former President Eisenhower says in New York, "I can't imagine any loyal American who would not be disturbed by these things." He was in New York to present an honorary citation to Adm. Lewis L. Strauss (Ret.).

Dear Editor:

On behalf of those who cannot speak for themselves, I ask every voter in this county to vote for the renewal of the levy to support the retarded school here in Pickaway County.

This involves no new money, no increase in rate, nor even a very large sum under the existing levy. For the small amount of one cent (price of one piece of bubble gum) for each $100 of assessed valuation you insure the continuance of the program for the retarded in Pickaway County.

This is a responsibility that we must not take lightly. These individuals must have the specialized training and education necessary to assure that they reach their maximum potential.

When you are at the polls on Tuesday, remember that this is your opportunity to help those who need and appreciate their school so very much.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A sculptor and his friend, who were trying to move a big piece of abstract art, crushed part of their hands Sunday.

Doctors worked for three hours trying to sew the fingertips back but could not.

The sculptor, Henry Burszypnour, 45, and his friend, Wendell Brucker, 38, were struggling with a six-foot-tall limestone column in the storage room of the Arts and Craft Center when the accident happened.

The artist's left hand and Brucker's right hand were injured.

Belotti Says Mob Tried To Fund His Campaign

BOSTON (AP) — Former Massachusetts Lt. Gov. Francis X. Belotti said Friday he "sensed" several attempts to give him Cosa Nostra money for his campaigns for governor in 1964 and attorney general last year. Belotti, a Quincy, Mass., lawyer, made the statement in commenting on a Saturday Evening Post article saying New England Mafia boss Raymond Patriarca complained bitterly that he had been rebuffed in attempts to induce Belotti to accept $100,000.

In an article in the forthcoming Nov. 7 issue, the Post says the FBI learned of Patriarca's displeasure after planting an eavesdropping bug in Patriarca's Providence, R.I., office.

Asked whether he actually had been offered money, Belotti said Friday: "I sensed several attempts to give it to me."

Belotti said no one actually came up to him and offered the money, but rather made the offers through "other persons" he did not know.

"I find it difficult to recall how precisely how it was done," Belotti said, "but I knew what they were trying to do. They were trying to get at me."

"Piqued by his (Belotti's) refusal," the Post article said, "the mob spread the word that he had taken mob money and these rumors were a major factor in Democrat Belotti's defeat in both campaigns."

A transcript of the bugging of Patriarca's office indicated the going rate for buying politicians in New England is $100,000, the article says. Payoffs usually take the form of campaign contributions.

It says the Mafia's allies among politicians include a high-ranking state official, a police chief, two licensing officials, a court administrator and a handful of legislators among others.

They were not identified.

Man Is Slain Outside Lorain

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — A 28-year-old Sheffield Township man was shot to death late Sunday night as he sat in his car talking with a couple in the Campito area just outside Lorain, sheriff's deputies said.

The dead man was identified as Dan Henderson.

Deputies said Henderson was sitting alone in his car talking with a man and woman when another car pulled up beside his and he was shot with a blast from a shotgun.

Deputies said they were holding a man for questioning.

104-YEAR-OLD CONSERVATIONIST—Shown working on his farm near San Lorenzo, N.M., 104-year-old Melquiades Ortiz recently signed a co-operative agreement with his Soil and Water Conservation District to carry out a conservation plan on his farm. "In 1963 FBI agents watched the high-ranking state official meet with boss Patriarca in Patriarca's car in the parking lot of a Boston hospital," the article says.

The transcript, according to the article also says a top Patriarca aide reported a Mafia ally had sought to pay off the state police to permit a new Mafia gambling operation in Biddeford, Maine.

Patriarca was indicted in June for conspiracy to commit murder after Joe Barboza, who had been hired by the Mafia to begin talking.

The article says the Mafia may be involved in the rash of armored car holdups in the Boston area.

"The federal government has information that the $1.5 million stolen in the Plymouth mail truck robbery in 1962 disappeared into Boston Mafia loan-shark operations within two days after the robbery," the article says.

It charges the Patriarca group also specializes in fixing professional sports contests and horse races.

"Informant say that there is a regular pay rate in Boston: $5,000 for a football or basketball star who can come up with an illness or injury, attested to by a physician, that will keep him out of a game; $10,000 to an athlete skillful enough to blow key plays in the game itself. Some athletes, it is said, use these methods to get out of debt to Mafia loan sharks," the article says.

Elephant Tax Ruled Unnecessary

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — After 9-year-old Dick Scotten won a 3-year-old elephant named Jubilee, the Internal Revenue Service told the boy's father, William E. Scotten of Albuquerque, that he owed almost $400 in income tax on the pachyderm.

IRS authorities said Jubilee, valued at $4,600, was in the category of money and property won in contests that must be reported as income.

Dick won Jubilee in a contest sponsored by the San Diego, Calif., Zoo, which then sent the animal directly to Albuquerque's Rio Grande Zoo.

But IRS authorities now have decided that the Scottens owe no tax on the animal because Dick never owned the animal.

Wallace's Grandma 100 Years Old

GRAYSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Kat Frink Watson of Graysville, who loves politics like her grandson, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, is celebrating her 100th birthday today.

And as with all centenarians, there are interesting stories about her. A daughter, Mrs. V.E. Thomas, tells one:

Last year, when Wallace came to visit, his grandmother queried him about his presidential plans.

"He tried to sidetrack her," said Mrs. Thomas, who noted that Mrs. Watson once ordered the postman to stop delivering a magazine which had been uncomplimentary to Wallace.

"Mama advised him not to run," she said. "She told him he would get killed."

Ohio Gridders Do Well on Road

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

They say the hardest games to win are the ones on the road, but Ohio State, Toledo and Ohio Wesleyan might say that's nonsense — particularly the Buckeyes.

For instance, Out of Ohio's college football fare over the weekend came these results:

Ohio State, winless at home this season, journeyed to East Lansing and upset arch-rival Michigan State 21-7.

Toledo latched on to a piece of its first Mid-American Conference reference football championship by invading Oxford and drubbing the Redskins 24-14.

Ohio Wesleyan took over the leadership in the Ohio Conference race by virtue of its 55-0 victory at Oberlin.

Pile-driving fullback Paul Huff smashed his way through the Spartan defense for 117 yards and two touchdowns, and quarterback Bill Long got the other OSU tally.

The Bucks, evening their overall record at 2-2 (2-2 in the Big Ten), built up a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter.

Toledo, the victim of 12 consecutive losses at Oxford, spotted Miami an early touchdown when wingback Jim Shaw scampered 19 yards for the tally.

The Rockets evened the score shortly after when quarterback John Schneider hit Dennis Tobias with a 14-yard aerial.

Ken Crotts made it 10-7 in the third period, booting a 24-yard field goal for Toledo.

Schneider and tailback Roland Moss picked up touchdowns in the fourth period with Miami getting its last tally on reserve fullback Cleveland Dickerson's one-yard plunge.

The Rockets are 5-1 in the loop and only Ohio University, which dumped Western Michigan 20-10, can tie Toledo for the title by beating Bowling Green next week.

At Oberlin, Dick Cromwell fired touchdown tosses of 58, 55, 54 and six yards as Ohio Wesleyan piled up 440 yards through the air. The victory, coupled with Wooster's 17-0 loss to Capital, gives the Bishops sole ownership of the OC lead with a 4-0 mark.

Elsewhere, Greg Cook's passing and running carried Cincinnati to a 27-21 victory over Boston College; Ken Kacenga scored two touchdowns to give Youngstown a 29-3 homecoming triumph over Southern Illinois; small college power Wittenberg, stressing a running attack for the first time in years, amassed 284 yards on the ground to shut out Heidelberg 16-0; Muskingum, with a 5-1 loop record, held on to Ohio Conference hopes by belting Denison 14-7 and Ron Swartz fourth quarter touchdown was the margin of victory in Kent State's 28-21 decision over Louisville.

The others:

Bowling Green 9, Marshall 7;

Mount Union 24, Kenyon 0; Otterbein 35, Hiram 8; Allegheny 15, John Carroll 0; Wayne State 47, Case 18; Bluffton 3, Ohio Northern 2; Ashland 55, Anderson 33; Virginia Military Institute 38, Akron 14; West Virginia Wesleyan 13, Marietta 10; Thiel 35, Western Reserve 8; Defiance 15, Taylor 7; Wilmington 3, Manchester, Ind. 0; Dayton 7, Xavier 7 (tie); Baldwin-Wallace 44, Central State 0.

Kings Stun Detroit, 6-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles' young Kings have pulled off another swift coup against the National Hockey League's Establishment.

The Kings, relegated to the expansion division cellar by most pre-season oracles, struck for five goals in the final period Sunday night and stunned the Detroit Red Wings 6-4.

It was the second victory in six starts against established clubs for the King, who beat Chicago 5-3 two weeks ago with a third-period rally.

Bill Flett, a 24-year-old NHL newcomer, registered a hat trick as Los Angeles came off the floor to flatten the Wings and move into first place in the West Division — two points ahead of idle Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, Boston and Toronto battled to a 2-2 draw in a wild bloodbath on the Bruins' ice: Philadelphia held Montreal to a 1-1 standoff and California tied Chicago 2-2.

Parents Night Slated Friday

Parents of Circleville High School football players and cheerleaders will be honored Friday night at the final grid game of the season with Reynoldsburg.

In pre-game festivities, the parents and their sons and daughters will be introduced.

Participating in the band show prior to the game and at halftime will be the Circleville High School Marching Band, the junior high band and Reynoldsburg's marching unit.

Portsmouth was manager of graphics and communications for the Middletown Chamber of Commerce and was married to a sister of Glenn Ellison, Ohio State's freshman football coach.

and we are hoping this will help us to offset our lack of outstanding height up front. This returning group won five of its last seven regular season games last year and makes us optimistic for a good start this season," said Regan.

The Crusaders were 7-14 overall a year ago and finished with a 3-8 conference record. The returning regulars functioned well as a unit in the latter stages of the '66-67 campaign.

Hunt, an honorable mention selection on the all-conference team last season, was the top scorer with an 18.7 average. He was the team's leading scorer in 11 games, was over the 20-point mark 10 times and had the best shooting percentage from the field, 47.3 (134 of 284).

THREE other returning regulars, Koehler (13.4), Androsko (11.9) and Schifer (10.5) also averaged in double figures. Cromer was the top rebounder with 188 and averaged 9.2 points per game.

Four other lettermen also return from a year ago to give the picture added depth. Ira Porterfield, a 6-2 senior from Worthington, became eligible in mid-season after transferring from Wittenberg and averaged 7.6 points in 10 games. Bruce Baxter (6-3, Worthington), Jim Thompson (6-2, Carroll) and Dan Brisker (5-11, Oak Hill) won their Varsity C's in 1966-67. Thompson is a senior and the other two are juniors.

Freshmen prospects include Jerry Hudson, 6-5, Jackson Center; Merrin, 6-4, Logan Elm; Mike Dreeling, 6-4, Columbus

Wysong Squeaks By Casper, Wins Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Tournament playing so badly he said he wasn't sure where the ball was going after he hit it.

But when it came down to the final holes, the quiet Texan refused to fold under the birdie pressure of veteran Billy Casper, and Wysong won the $20,000 first prize in a sudden death playoff.

Wysong and Casper finished the 72-hole tournament, played over the 7,000-yard Waialae course in brisk trade winds that made the coconut trees dance vigorously, tied at 284.

That was four under par for the four rounds.

Only four other players broke par, Doug Sanders, Babe Hickey, Deane Beman and Tom Weiskopf, who tied for the third spot with 287, three strokes behind the leaders.

Defending champion Ted Makalena finished an even par 288, after an opening round 78. Arnold Palmer never got going and scored 72-74-74-72—292 for a 19th-place tie and $1,150.

The first prize check was Wysong's largest, and the victory only his second. He won the Phoenix Open last year.

Casper put the pressure on Wysong on the 16th hole when he smacked an iron three feet away and made a birdie 3. Wysong, playing behind, stroked his approach to the same spot, but his putt hit a spike mark and lipped out.

At the final hole, Casper made a birdie 4, and Wysong needed a birdie to win. The Texan hit a magnificent second shot—Palmer called it "the greatest of the tournament"—but the ball rolled and rolled until it trickled over the green.

Wysong chipped back short and left the putt short for the tie.

On the sudden death hole, Casper hit his second into a bunker, blasted out nine feet away and missed the putt. Wysong hit what Casper called a "fantastic shot, around a tree and onto the green." He two-putted for the win.

Ohio Gridders Do Well on Road

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

They say the hardest games to win are the ones on the road, but Ohio State, Toledo and Ohio Wesleyan might say that's nonsense — particularly the Buckeyes.

For instance, Out of Ohio's college football fare over the weekend came these results:

Ohio State, winless at home this season, journeyed to East Lansing and upset arch-rival Michigan State 21-7.

Toledo latched on to a piece of its first Mid-American Conference football championship by invading Oxford and drubbing the Redskins 24-14.

Ohio Wesleyan took over the leadership in the Ohio Conference race by virtue of its 55-0 victory at Oberlin.

Pile-driving fullback Paul Huff smashed his way through the Spartan defense for 117 yards and two touchdowns, and quarterback Bill Long got the other OSU tally.

The Bucks, evening their over-all record at 2-3 (2-2 in the Big Ten), built up a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter.

Toledo, the victim of 12 consecutive losses at Oxford, spotted Miami an early touchdown when wingback Jim Shaw scampered 19 yards for the tally.

The Rockets evened the score shortly after when quarterback John Schneider hit Dennis Tobias with a 14-yard aerial.

Ken Cots made it 10-7 in the third period, booting a 24-yard field goal for Toledo. Schneider and tailback Roland Moss picked up touchdowns in the fourth period with Miami getting its last tally on reserve fullback Cleveland Dickerson's one-yard plunge.

The Rockets are 5-1 in the loop and only Ohio University, which dumped Western Michigan 20-10, can tie Toledo for the title by beating Bowling Green next week.

At Oberlin, Dick Cromwell fired touchdown tosses of 58, 55, 54 and six yards as Ohio Wesleyan piled up 440 yards through the air. The victory, coupled with Wooster's 17-0 loss to Capital, gives the Bishops sole ownership of the OC lead with a 4-0 mark.

Elsewhere, Greg Cook's passing and running carried Cincinnati to a 27-21 victory over Boston College; Ken Kacenga scored two touchdowns to give Youngstown a 29-3 homecoming triumph over Southern Illinois; small college power Wittenberg, stressing a running attack for the first time in years, amassed 284 yards on the ground to shut out Heidelberg 16-0; Muskingum, with a 5-1 loop record, held on to Ohio Conference hopes by belting Denison 14-7 and Ron Swartz fourth quarter touchdown was the margin of victory in Kent State's 28-21 decision over Louisville.

The others:
Bowling Green 9, Marshall 7;

Mount Union 24, Kenyon 0; Oberlin 35, Hiram 8; Allegheny 15, John Carroll 0; Wayne State 47, Case 18; Bluffton 3, Ohio Northern 2; Ashland 55, Anderson 33; Virginia Military Institute 38, Akron 14; West Virginia Wesleyan 13, Marietta 10; Thiel 35, Western Reserve 8; Defiance 15, Taylor 7; Wilmington 3, Manchester, Ind. 0; Dayton 7, Xavier 7 (tie); Baldwin-Wallace 44, Central State 0.

Merrin Seeks Varsity Berth on Capital Quintet

Logan Elm graduate Russ Merrin is one of ten freshmen vying for a position on the Capital University varsity basketball squad.

Merrin is the 1967 winner of the Bob Bowser Award, presented annually by The Herald to the outstanding basketball player in the county.

Merrin is following the footsteps of his older brother, Keith, who captained the Crusaders when he was a senior there.

The younger Merrin starred at Logan Elm, where he established most of the scoring records on the books. He was twice a member of the All-Scioto Valley Conference basketball team and was named to the All-District team as a junior.

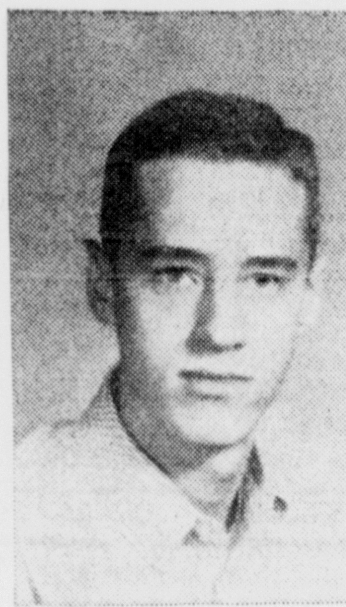

THE 6-foot-4 Capital freshman weighs 175 pounds. He is listed as a forward prospect on the cage roster.

When basketball practice began at Capital this week, Coach Harold (Whitey) Regan welcomed back his entire starting quintet of a year ago. The Crusaders open at home Dec. 2 against Kenyon in an Ohio Conference game.

Three of the returning starters are seniors, Captain Dick Androsko, 6-2 forward from Warren Harding, Tom Koehler, a 6-3 forward from Grove City, and sharp-shooting Paul Hunt, a 6-1 guard from Columbus South.

Two juniors, center Doug Cromer (6-3, Columbus Eastmoor) and Mike Schifer, a 6-0 guard from Wynford High School in Crawford County, are the other returning regulars.

"Experience is in our favor and we are hoping this will help us to offset our lack of outstanding height up front. This returning group won five of its last seven regular season games last year and makes us optimistic for a good start this season," said Regan.

The Crusaders were 7-14 overall a year ago and finished with a 3-8 conference record. The returning regulars functioned well as a unit in the latter stages of the '66-67 campaign.

Hunt, an honorable mention selection on the all-conference team last season, was the top scorer with an 18.7 average. He was the team's leading scorer in 11 games, was over the 20-point mark 10 times and had the best shooting percentage from the field, 47.3 (134 of 284).

THREE other returning regulars, Koehler (13.4), Androsko (11.9) and Schifer (10.5) also averaged in double figures. Cromer was the top rebounder with 188 and averaged 9.2 points per game.

Four other lettermen also return from a year ago to give the picture added depth. Ira Porterfield, a 6-2 senior from Worthington, became eligible in mid-season after transferring from Wittenberg and averaged 7.6 points in 10 games. Bruce Baxter (6-3, Worthington), Jim Thompson (6-2, Carroll) and Dan Brisker (5-11, Oak Hill) won their Varsity C's in 1966-67. Thompson is a senior and the other two are juniors.

Freshmen prospects include Jerry Hudson, 6-5, Jackson Center; Merrin, 6-4, Logan Elm; Mike Dreeling, 6-4, Columbus

Unitas Leads Colts To 13-10 Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay turned back the clock on Johnny Unitas, but Unitas turned the tables on the Packers.

Unitas, who fumbled away Baltimore's last hope for the 1966 National Football League title when the Packers caught him on the run, won a frantic fourth-down footrace in Sunday's rematch and then pitched the unbeaten Colts to a 13-10 comeback triumph over the defending NFL champs.

Unitas' second TD pass in the final 2½ minutes — after rookie Rich Volk recovered Lou Michaels' onside kick — avenged a 14-10 loss to the Packers at Baltimore last Dec. 10 — a loss that eliminated the Colts from the Western Conference race.

In Sunday's other games, Los Angeles remained one game behind the Colts in the Coastal race by trimming San Francisco 17-7; Cleveland buried Pittsburgh 34-14; St. Louis outscored Washington 27-21; New Orleans whipped Philadelphia 31-24 for its first NFL victory; Minnesota overtook New York 27-24 and Chicago bounced Detroit 27-13.

The Rams, 5-1-2, spotted San Francisco a 7-0 first quarter lead, then shut out the 49ers while quarterback Roman Gabriel led the counter-attack. Gabriel set up one touchdown with a 54-yard pass to Jack Snow and flipped three yards to Les Josephson for another score.

Frank Ryan, playing despite injuries for the eighth straight week, fired first quarter TD passes to Gary Collins and Leroy Kelly and guided Cleveland to a 31-7 third-period bulge over the Steelers before bowing out.

Larry Wilson intercepted a pass on his one-yard line and raced 44 yards to set up the first of two St. Louis scores in the final 15 minutes. Jim Hart followed Wilson's rumbac with a 55-yard pass to Jackie Smith before diving the last yard to put the Cards in front for good.

Walter "The Flea" Roberts kicked for one touchdown, zipped 27 yards for another after picking up teammate Jim Taylor's fumble and scored a third on a 49-yard pass from Gary Cuozzo, leading New Orleans' expansion Saints out of a seven-game skid.

Fred Cox' 13-yard field goal with 10 seconds to play capped Minnesota's second half comeback against New York. The Giants squandered a 24-7 lead and fumbled away a chance for tie-breaking FG less than two minutes before Cox booted the winner.

Dallas' Dan Reeves scored four touchdowns — two on passes from Don Meredith, who returned to action after a three-week layoff — as the Capitol Division leaders flattened the Falcons.

Gale Sayers scored on a 97-yard kickoff return and sped 63 yards to set up another touchdown, pacing the Bears to their second victory of the season over Detroit.

Bowl Slots Open; Only Month Left

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten North Carolina State and strong-coming Penn State clash head-on this week while top-ranked Southern California and surprise Minnesota face formidable rivals in games certain to affect the national rankings and the postseason bowl picture.

All major bowl spots are still up in the air, with less than a month to play remaining. Here is the situation:

Rose Bowl — Southern Cal (8-0) or UCLA (6-0-1) vs. Indiana (7-0) or Minnesota (6-1).

Orange Bowl — Tennessee (5-1) and Oklahoma (5-1) said to have the inside track and both Miami inclined.

Cotton Bowl — Texas (5-2), Texas A&M (4-4) or Texas Tech

(4-3) the host against possibly the Penn State (5-2)-N. C. State (8-0) winner.

Sugar Bowl — Alabama (5-1) or Georgia (5-2) vs. Miami of Florida (5-2) at one of the leading teams of the Southwest Conference.

Gator Bowl — Penn State, N.C. State and Texas Tech are prime candidates, depending on performances the last weeks of the season.

The host spot in the Rose Bowl and probably the national championship will be decided in the nationally-televised USC-UCLA game at Los Angeles Nov. 18. But Southern Cal this week must contend with giant-killer Oregon State, the team that beat Purdue and tied UCLA (16-16), and UCLA must take on tough Washington.

With powerful Purdue ineligible to return, the Big Ten role at Pasadena will be borne by the Minnesota Gophers or the Indiana Hoosiers, who play each other Nov. 18. Minnesota meets Purdue Saturday, Indiana takes on Michigan State.

Tennessee, rated the best team in the bowl-conscious South, is reported favoring a trip to Miami—and Orange Bowl officials are delighted—while competition likely will come from Oklahoma, which could virtually sew up the Big Eight crown by beating Iowa State Saturday.

Such a game would be a replay of the 1938 game at Miami when George Cafego led the Vols to a 17-0 victory over the Sooners.

The Cotton Bowl must await the outcome of the tight Southwest Conference race. The title may hinge on the Texas-Texas A&M traditional head-knocker Nov. 23 but Texas Tech, with a 3-1 mark in the league, still can demand to be counted. Texas plays Baylor this week and Tech faces Texas Christian, with the Aggies idle.

The Cotton Bowl is expected to look to the East or tropical Florida for an opponent and probably will make strong overtures to the winner of the N.C.

State-Penn State game at State College, Pa., and Miami of Florida, if the latter can beat Notre Dame Nov. 24.

If Tennessee chooses Miami, the Sugar Bowl will want either Alabama or Georgia. Alabama, beaten by Tennessee and tied by Florida State could get another blemish at Baton Rouge, La., Saturday night where it faces a tough Louisiana State. High-scoring Georgia has remaining dates with Florida, Auburn and Georgia Tech.

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville is growing in stature yearly and will battle the older bowls for prime material.

Chiefs on Track; Beat Jets, 42-18

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, pulled by their mighty little engine, appear on the track again and picking up steam, looking more and more like the Super Chiefs of 1966.

Still hopeful of another shot at the Super Bowl, the once-faltering American Football League defending champions ran over the New York Jets 42-18 Sunday after crushing Denver last Sunday.

Oakland raised its record to 7-1, but did not resemble any express in huffing and puffing by Denver 21-17. San Diego was idle.

In the other AFL contests, Boston kept Houston off the Jets' back by slowing down the Oilers 18-7, while Buffalo got back on the track against Miami 35-13.

Kansas City lay sidetracked with a 3-3 record two weeks ago after two straight losses before Mike Garrett, their 5-foot-9, 190-pound dynamo, moved it into high gear.

Garrett, slowed by injuries earlier, gained 101 yards and scored twice against Denver and then steamed for 192 yards, a club record, and a TD against the Jets.

Oakland had a much tougher time against Denver. Two Darlyle Lamonica to Bill Miller TD passes and two George Blanda field goals provided a 21-7 Oakland lead late in the third quarter before the Broncos came alive.

Houston, 4-3-1, missed its chance to tie the Jets as its vaunted defense held Boston to three Gino Cappelletti field goals and a safety until late in the final period, but could set up only one Oiler TD. That came after recovering a Boston fumble that led to a 45-yard scoring march that closed the gap to 11-7.

Buffalo, winning only the third time in eight tries, ran up its biggest point total of the season as Wray Carlton ran 15 times for 97 yards and two touchdowns. Billie Masters also caught Jack Kemp's two scoring passes, and Tom Janik ran an intercepted pass back 19 yards for the fifth TD.

Muskies Win; So Do Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The five players the Minnesota finished the game with were the best the Muskies had. In fact, they were the only ones they had.

There was no help on the bench at the end of the Muskies' American Basketball Association game against Anaheim Sunday night because two players were injured and three had fouled out.

But by the end of three quarters, the Muskies really didn't need much help. They led 88-67 and eventually won 119-92.

Les Hunter, Ron Peery and Don Freeman each scored 19 points as the Muskies won their fourth straight. Ben Warley led Anaheim with 22.

The New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association also won their fourth straight, 115-107 over the San Diego Rockets.

Dick Barnett scored 22, Willis Reed 21, Howie Komives 19 and Dick Van Arsdale 17 for the Knicks, who came back from a 52-50 halftime deficit to outscore the Rockets 38-29 in the third quarter. Jim Barnett and Art Williams paced San Diego with 16 each.

There were no other games in either league.

Impala Custom Coupe

From Impala, world's most popular car The silent ride of quality for '68

Now there are more good reasons than ever why people should prefer Impala. Like all regular Chevrolets, it's even further ahead for '68!

A more hushed ride
Among other things, we refined and improved everything about the ride to make it surprisingly smooth and silent. Just try it and see. You'll find that our engineers used electronic computers to pinpoint places where noises might develop, and installed a special network of rubber cushions to keep squeaks and rattles from disturbing your comfort.

We doubt that you've ever driven a car that moves so noiselessly.

The look you like best

People have always preferred Impala's looks. So for 1968 we made it even more beautiful. We gave the grille a more massive and masculine look. We gave the hood sweeping new lines and tucked the wipers neatly out of sight. We designed the taillights right into the rear bumper for a look you're sure to like.

We owe you the best

We figure we owe people more than other car makers do. Because it was people who put us in first place in the first place, and who keep us there year after year. We appreciate it.

No matter how you look at it, the 16th running of the $150,000 Washington D.C. International at Laurel, Md., Saturday has a decided American tinge.

The 1 1/2-mile grass course race, top event on Saturday's national card, will bring together nine of the world's best thoroughbreds from seven countries. Five of them were either bred in the United States or are American-owned.

Damascus, leading contender for Horse of the Year honors in this country, but a novice in grass course competition, and Fort Marcy, a highly regarded turf course performer, will represent the United States.

One of the two representatives from England will be Ribocco, a 3-year-old sired in the United States by the famous Italian stallion, Ribot, and purchased as a yearling for $35,000 by Charles W. Engelhard, Far Hills, N.J. industrialist.

Tobin Bronze will carry the hopes of Australia but he recently was purchased for $336,000 by Californians William Breilant and I. I. Litz. His new owners chartered a special plane at the cost of $35,000 to get the colt at the race scene in time for the rich race.

He's a Smoothie from Canada is a son of Round Table, one of the United States' foremost producers.

In Command from England; Casque Guise, a 3-year-old filly seeking a third straight international triumph for France; Japan's Speed Symboli and Venezuela's Chateaubriand complete the field.

Also down for decision Saturday is the 1 1/2-mile of the $75,000-added Gardenia for 2-year-old fillies at Garden State Park. C. T. Chenery's Syrian Sea and Gay Matilda, who ran one-two in the recent Selma at Laurel, form an outstanding entry especially since Queen of the Stage will not be present. The Queen sprained an ankle in the Selma in which she was out of the money after going unbeaten in seven races.

Other feature events Saturday include the 1 1/2-mile of the $50,000-added Roamer Handicap for 3-year-olds at Aqueduct and the 1 1/2-mile of the $35,000-added National Jockey Club Handicap at Sportsman's Park.

Dr. Fager, winner of the Hawthorne Gold Cup in his most recent outing, returns to action Tuesday as the outstanding choice to take the seven furlongs of the $50,000-added Vosburgh Handicap at Aqueduct.

Ogden Phipps' Vitriolic, trained by Eddie Neloy, took a long stride toward the 2-year-old title last Saturday by defeating T. V. Commercial in the $180,870 Pimlico at Laurel Futurity. T. V. Commercial, who had won one division of the Washington-Arlington Futurity while Vitriolic was taking the other, was second, beaten three lengths as Phipps' big son of Bold Ruler turned on the power in the home stretch under Braulio Barza.

In other top events last Saturday, Sweet Folly, $25, won the $58,600 Ladies Handicap at Aqueduct and Green Glade, $55.40, captured the $30,075 Princeton Handicap at Garden State Park.

NEW YORK (AP) — "PBL," the experimental series underwritten by a Ford Foundation grant and broadcast Sunday night on a special network of educational stations across the nation, devoted all of its time to a "black-white dialogue." It was touchy, controversial and undoubtedly stepped on toes, but it succeeded in shedding some light as well as heat.

The program set the stage by a recapitulation of political campaigns where race is an issue—in Gary, Ind., Cleveland, Ohio, and Boston, Mass. Then it moved into the high point of the program: a filmed "confrontation" of Chicago Negroes and whites. There opinion, emotion-charged, ranged from hostile threats by Black Power exponents to one angry white woman who exploded in exasperation with, "I want white power."

A vocal, tough-talking Negro, Russ Meek, earlier had done the narration of a film made in the Chicago slums under his direction. His fury and hatred spewed out then and even more during the "confrontation." One Negro woman who had started with calm reason was so stung by a white woman's talk of integration that she retorted, "I've been integrating too long. I've got these freckles and red hair as a result of the rape of my great grandmother..."

While the talk, often jumbled as many spoke at one time, was more emotional than reasoned, the confrontation was exciting television.

Actually, neither Negroes nor whites made good cases for their causes. Immediately afterward, Harvard research psychiatrist Robert Coles presented his "analysis" of the session. He found the present Negro movement "not so different from the Irish 50 or 75 years ago," and compared the Negro revolt to "the breaking away as a child does when it grows up and goes away from his family."

The final portion of the program was devoted to a play, "Day of Absence," performed by a company of Negroes in white face—a minstrel show in reverse. This told in bitter, "broad satire, the calamity that befell a Southern town when suddenly all its Negroes disappeared. No menial jobs were performed, and it painted an ugly picture of incompetent, foolish whites. Although it made its point very quickly, the play went on and on.

There were occasional breaks in the program for local station identification, and twice there was a break called "a word for the consumer." These breaks were in the form of commercials, but one told viewers that the least expensive pain killer was as effective as the expensive kind and the other that long cigarettes contain harmful ingredients. They were the sole glimmers of humor in the two and one-half hours, and the humor in them was certainly on the skimpy side.

The program was too long—the play could have been cut sharply—and tended to be heavy-handed. But it was an interesting, ambitious beginning. And it certainly was not bland.

NBC will cancel "Maya," the child-oriented action series filmed in India some time in February. The show suffered from low ratings.

Recommended tonight: "Love And..." NBC, 10-11 EST, Andy Williams, first special of the season with Errol Garner and Henry Mancini; "The Big Valley," ABC, 10-11, Barbara Stanwyck in a story that gives her some elbow room for acting.

Although she tied for second place in the $11,500 Corpus Christi Civitan, the $1,387 she earned boosted her winnings for the year to $42,585.

Police filed the charges against Margaret Louise Burch 33, and Edward Richardson, 23, after Samuel B. Smith, 47, Cincinnati, died early Sunday.

Smith was shot in the chest late on Thursday at Trotter's Cafe in the Northside section. Police said Miss Burch, a barmaid, aimed a gun at Richardson during an argument and Richardson pulled Smith in front of him.

Smith, hit in the heart, was rushed to General Hospital where doctors revived him with open heart surgery.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Tomorrow we make a decision—one that will affect everyone in the Circleville School District. Let us consider the importance of our vote as it concerns you and I.

The writer attended a one room country school for a time; with one teacher for eight grades. From the third grade, we were fortunate to have a centralized school with two grades to a room. Here we received the best available—some 50 years ago Teachers then were required to have two years of training and received $1,200, for nine months work.

Half a century ago one could get by with a simple high school education, and despite a disastrous depression in the thirties, most of those students survived and prospered to a decent living in a changing world.

That same education today would produce only laborers and welfare cases.

Our present City School System is one of which we should be proud, thanks to foresight and planning. But we have no $1,200 teachers today—they deserve a wage commensurate with today's standard of living.

Our Board of Education is quite capable and efficient. Those critics of their operations can only be ignorant or misinformed of the conditions involved.

We cannot afford to go backward in our education facilities—not even maintain a status quo. It is imperative that we advance from year to year to keep our community the place we all want to live and to raise our families.

So, let us forget any petty feelings we might have regarding the operation of our school system and do what is right for you and I and our community. The small added cost will be returned two-fold.

Vote YES for the school levy.

port of the downing of two Korean War-vintage MIG17s by an F4 Phantom jet did not say where the dogfight occurred. They were the 97th and 98th confirmed MIG kills for American pilots in North Vietnamese air battles.

The announcement came after the command reported that U.S. Air Force jets had raided the Gia Thuong storage area less than a mile north of the Gia Lam air base, which is across the Red River from the heart of Hanoi and is North Vietnam's main civilian air field.

Gia Lam is also the only MIG airfield U.S. warplanes have not yet attacked and one of about five major targets still on the Pentagon's restricted list. Among the others are the Hai-phong docks and railroad terminal and the power plant in Lao Cai, on the border of Communist China.

The Gia Thuong storage area is on the main northeast railroad and highway from Communist China to Hanoi over which military supplies come for North Vietnamese troops fighting in South Vietnam. The area is between two key bridges, the Canal des rapides and the Paul Doumer, both of which have been repeatedly attacked by American bombers.

In another major strike Sunday, Air Force Thunderchiefs again raided the Phuc Yen MIG base northwest of Hanoi and reported damaging at least two MIG 17 interceptors on the ground. In South Vietnam, meanwhile, South Vietnamese infantrymen battled Viet Cong troops near Loc Ninh.

First reports on the fighting 25 miles northeast of Loc Ninh said a South Vietnamese infantry battalion of perhaps 40 men ran into 100 Viet Cong troops said to be from the 275th Regiment.

The fighting broke off half an hour later when U.S. Army helicopter gunships and artillery raked the enemy positions. Later about 400 South Vietnamese reinforcements moving to the scene fought for about seven hours with an estimated 400 Viet Cong troops. After dark, Air Force twin-engine C47s lit the area with flares and fired rapid bursts from their Gatling guns. Civilians in the area reported about 1,000 Viet Cong troops have been moving through from Cambodia. The Viet Cong tried for six days last week to capture Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon, but Maj. Gen. John H. Hay, commander of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, said 913 enemy bodies were counted and he was certain the number killed was twice that.

Hay said one of the Viet Cong's best outfits, the 9th Division, was nearly destroyed in "one of the most significant battles of the war." He estimated that the division numbered between 11,000 and 12,000 men.

B52 bombers kept after the remnants of the enemy force with 150,000 pounds of bombs on suspected positions five mile outside Loc Ninh Sunday.

Pair Is Charged With Manslaughter

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two persons have been charged with first degree manslaughter in the death of a man allegedly used as a human shield.

Police filed the charges against Margaret Louise Burch 33, and Edward Richardson, 23, after Samuel B. Smith, 47, Cincinnati, died early Sunday.

Smith was shot in the chest late on Thursday at Trotter's Cafe in the Northside section. Police said Miss Burch, a barmaid, aimed a gun at Richardson during an argument and Richardson pulled Smith in front of him.

Smith, hit in the heart, was rushed to General Hospital where doctors revived him with open heart surgery.

Viet Action Heavy, 2 MIGs Downed

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force jet downed two MIGs in air combat over North Vietnam today while other planes attacked a sprawling military storage area in the outskirts of Hanoi for the first time. It had been on the Pentagon's out-of-bounds list.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Tomorrow we make a decision—one that will affect everyone in the Circleville School District. Let us consider the importance of our vote as it concerns you and I.

The writer attended a one room country school for a time; with one teacher for eight grades. From the third grade, we were fortunate to have a centralized school with two grades to a room. Here we received the best available—some 50 years ago Teachers then were required to have two years of training and received $1,200, for nine months work.

Half a century ago one could get by with a simple high school education, and despite a disastrous depression in the thirties, most of those students survived and prospered to a decent living in a changing world.

That same education today would produce only laborers and welfare cases.

Our present City School System is one of which we should be proud, thanks to foresight and planning. But we have no $1,200 teachers today—they deserve a wage commensurate with today's standard of living.

Our Board of Education is quite capable and efficient. Those critics of their operations can only be ignorant or misinformed of the conditions involved.

We cannot afford to go backward in our education facilities—not even maintain a status quo. It is imperative that we advance from year to year to keep our community the place we all want to live and to raise our families.

So, let us forget any petty feelings we might have regarding the operation of our school system and do what is right for you and I and our community. The small added cost will be returned two-fold.

Vote YES for the school levy.
